Opponents Delaying Vote To Confirm Hughes As Chief Justice

ROGERS' TRIBUTE TO HIS OLD PAL "DANCING" FRED

(Special To The News)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Here as the happiest thing I ever wrote.
everywhere
I go some stranger asks me, "How is Fred Stone, will he ever dance again?"
I never met him, but I always admired him.
My and I have come from his opening night. What a triumph. Just think, with every bone and tune about him broken and shattered—all but his spirit, yet he never lost faith. He looked forward to dancing as well as ever in his best show since the Red Mill. Four Stones, all marvelous, their devotion equals their cleverness.
Now what's worrying me is how are they going to kill him off eventually. If I attend his funeral it will be no surprise to me at the cemetery when he arises and announces that the festivities are called off and then goes into a song and dance.
Yours,
WILL.

Still Debating Confirmation Of Justice Hughes

Democratic Insurgent Coali-

Battle NOMINATION BRINGS SERIOUS OPPOSITION

Some Senators Oppose Hughes Because Of His Economic Views

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—
A Democratic-Insurgent coalition, greatly outnumbered, assailed the economic views of Charles Evans Hughes in the Senate today in a vain hope of preventing his confirmation as Chief Justice of the United States.
Senator Dill (D) of Washington, opened the third day's debate against Hughes by charging his confirmation would help tax the American people
"hundreds of millions of dollars" because of his economic views on the valuation of public utilities.
Dill protested against the appointment of Chief Justice from the ranks of men "defeated for the presidency."

Recalls His Meeting With Abraham Lincoln

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN

CLINTON, Ia., Feb. 12.—Hadn't we better spank this drummer boy and send him back home to Leavenworth?
A. Lincoln.
As a nation paused today to pay honor to the memory of a great president, Daniel Winget sat at his desk in the office of a publishing house here and folded and unfolded a note that took him back nearly three-quarters of a century, to a day when a president quizzically meditated on punishing a small, scared drummer boy.
He was only 14, was Danny Winget, in '61—out in Leavenworth, Kan.
But his father was General D. P. Winget, commander of the military post and Danny wanted very much to be a soldier.
"A real soldier," he amended.
"Gosh! How I wanted to get to the firing line. It was after Fort Donel-son, and my regiment, the first Kansas, didn't get into the scrap. I wanted to, so I just up and followed some soldiers to Washington.
"I got there, but I lacked money and food. I had to do something, so I went to see the secretary of war.
"I can see him yet—it was Stanton
—big and burly and cross as a bear.
He scared the liver out of me.
"You look pretty small for a soldier," he said looking me up and down.
"If you are I guess we'd better shoot you off a deserted."
"I got away from there as fast as I could," ruminated Winget.
"But I mustered up enough brass to go up to the White House. There was an old darkey there and I told him I wanted to see Mr. Lincoln.
Someone called 'em in.'
"I went in. Even now I can remember the funny feeling I had at the pit of my stomach. There was Mr. Lincoln—and he looked as big as a telegraph pole.
"I told him my story and he didn't

Great Britain Will Not Scrap H. M. S. Rodney

First Lord Of Admiralty Makes Announcement
In House Of Commons

BORAH'S STATEMENT
CREATES FURORE

England Will Not Consent To Scrap Two Most Powerful Ships

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 12.—Great Britain has no intention of scrapping
H. M. S. Rodney, pride of the British fleet and most powerful warship on the seas, First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander told the House of Commons today.
Alexander's statement was made in answer to a question from a member of the house, who referred to the demand of United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho that the Rodney be scrapped in order to bring about parity in capital ships between Britain and America.
Causes Flurry
That Senator Borah's suggestion caused a considerable flurry in this country was evidenced by the parliamentary question, which was introduced at "question time" in the house soon after the body met this afternoon.
Alexander added that neither would Britain consent to scrap the Nelson, another war battleship of the Rodney type. He made no elaboration on his answer, merely stating flatly that destruction of these two gigantic super-dreadnaughts had no place whatever in the British Disarmament program.
Meanwhile delegates to the five-day naval disarmament conference continued their private conversations, devoting considerable study to tonnage figures in the hope of bringing about definite action on auxiliary craft in the near future.
Now that the delegates are in virtual agreement that submarines shall be "humanized" to the extent that they will be regulated in their actions against merchant vessels by the same standards that govern other classes of warships, the delegates are preparing to put forward their various auxiliary needs in actual tonnage figures.
The first committee of the conference, according to Prime Minister J.
Ramsey MacDonald, will shortly be able to announce a definite agreement on the question of global and categorical limitation. When this problem has been settled, the delegates will begin actual work on limiting their auxiliary fleets.

BLASTS, FIRE, SINK OCEAN LINER

View of the North German Lloyd liner Muenchen snapped blazing at her pier in the North river, New York, just before sinking after three explosions ripped through the hull of the ship causing one death and injuring five. Three firemen were reported missing. The Muenchen had just arrived from Bremen and had discharged her passengers.

Committee Of Congress Hears Wet Proposals

First Hearings Of Kind At Washington In Past
Ten Years

WETS BEGINNING
DRIVE FOR CHANGE

Drys Will Be Given Chance To Speak For Prohibition At Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—
Delayed by objections of dry members who want to curtail the hearings, the House Judiciary Committee today listened to proposals for repeal or change of the 18th Amendment for the first time in 10 years.
More than 200 wets from a half dozen states invaded the Capitol for hearings which they proclaimed mark the beginning of the biggest drive in history against prohibition.
Start Hearing
As soon as Rep. George S. Graham (R) of Penna., 79, chairman of the committee, had opened proceedings by proclaiming prohibition a failure, dry members were on their feet.
Rep. Hickey (R) of Ind., said that Graham's outline of the hearings opened the door to prolonged discussions and declared for a definite restriction. Rep. Summers (D) of Texas, supported him.
When Rep. LaGuardia (R) of N.
Y., moved the hearings proceed, Rep.
Michener (R) of Mich., leaped the motion would be defeated if placed.
The squabble was ended when Chairman Graham promised to bring the question of limiting the hearings before the committee in executive session.
Prominent Wets Present
The drys, he announced, would be given equal time with the wets.
Some of the wets' most prominent advocates were present. They included Capt. W. H. Stayton of Baltimore, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment;
Ex-Senator Bruce, of Maryland; Mrs.
Charles H. Sabin, of New York, head of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform; Dr. F. W.

pensary Tax Reduction League; M.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Old Sol has come to the aid of motorists and pedestrians and with the aid of a few well placed rays, has melted most of the ice from the icy hillsides. It is still slippery in spots on the level, but the hillside streets are fairly well cleared of the ice.
The Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion is already looking forward to the annual convention next fall. A committee was named at last night's meeting to inquire into the cost of transportation. The boys who attended last fall came home filled with wonderment at the hugeness and magnificence of the thing and are planning to go again.

By the way, what has become of the movement to bring the State Convention of the American Legion to this city?

Pa New notes that some autoist missed the road coming down Mercustreet yesterday sometime and crashed into the iron fence surrounding the Ward property and tore away several sections of it.

The two brick plants of Bessemer,
are now running in full production.
The plants started running full on Saturday, February 1. The quarries of the Cement company are also running in full production.

Saw some little dogs strutting around with bright licenses on their collars.

Attention of one of the Pa New force was called to the fact that but six flags were on display along Washington street at 10:30 this morning.
Evidently most of the business houses had forgotten all about the day being Lincoln's birthday.

Today's weather gives one the suggestion that spring fever will soon be epidemic. The maximum temperature of the last 24 hours was recorded at 9 o'clock this morning, when the thermometer stood at 40 degrees. Occupants of the big office buildings are having a hard time keeping their offices cool enough.

A local man tells Pa New that he would like to get some of the wood which the railroaders have to burn

Dynamite Goes Off Prematurely And Kills Workman In New Castle

Morris Rosenberg, aged 40, of
No. 1 East Reynolds street, died about noon today as a result of injuries sustained when a stick of dynamite exploded at the yards of the Pittsburgh Coal and Junk Company on Moravia street.
Mr. Rosenberg, with two other men, was engaged in breaking up some iron which had been hauled into the yard. In doing this he was using dynamite. He had a stick of dynamite in his hand and was in the act of igniting it when it exploded.
Hurled To Ground
Rosenberg was hurled to the ground by the force of the explosion.
On being rushed to the hospital it was found that he had suffered a fractured skull and other injuries about the head and face, including a serious injury to his eyes. His right hand was crushed, his left hand injured and there were lacerations on his legs and body. He died without having regained consciousness.
The two men who were working with Rosenberg in the yard escaped without injury, as they were some distance from him when it happened and it is not known exactly what caused the stick to explode prematurely. Coroner J. P. Caldwell was notified and is investigating.
Rosenberg is survived by his wife and four children. They are:
Lena, Harry, Ishmael and Harriet.
Announcement of funeral will be made later.

Rev. Petrie Is Well Liked In West Middlesex

Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Petrie, of West

formerly the pastor of the Grace M. E. church of this city, before that church was combined with the Epworth church.
He is now the pastor of the Methodist church of West Middlesex and during the time he has been there, eighteen new members have joined the church.

Fisher Refuses Any Comment On Two Candidates

Governor Fisher Back In Harrington Today Is Silent Regarding Gubernatorial

PLANS EXTENDED TRIP FEBRUARY 22

(International News Service)
HARRINGTON, Feb. 12.—On his return here from the political conferences in the national capital, Governor John S. Fisher refused to discuss any of the contenders for the Republican gubernatorial nomination or the results of the announcement made yesterday.
The governor admitted that the announcements of Samuel S. Lewis, a follower of Senator Joseph R. Grundy, and Francis Shunk Brown, Vice Lieutenant, had injected a new element into the situation but refused to say how it would affect future developments.
Although the governor intends to leave on an extended trip on February 22, he said that at present no further conferences of the political leaders are scheduled.
The Washington conference the governor termed an "impromptu meeting" which had resulted from the desires of Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon to have reports on the situation in Pennsylvania.
The governor apparently considered the announcements of the two candidates not as helpful to what he has consistently termed "a complex situation."
On arriving at the capitol this morning the governor went first to the office of State Treasurer Edward Martin, who also is chairman of the Republican state committee. After a short visit there he called on Attorney General Cyrus E. Woods before going to the executive offices.
He maintained silence regarding the subjects under discussion at the short conferences. Both Martin and Woods have been mentioned prominently as possible "harmony candidates" should too wide a breach develop between the Grundy and Vane forces.

Mother And Two Children Burned To Death In Fire

Six Other Members Of Family Severely Injured In Escaping From Burning Home

(International News Service)
CLINTWOOD, W. Va., Feb. 12.—A mother and two children were burned to death and six other members of the family were severely injured early today when fire destroyed the home here of Mrs. Jack Robinson.
Mrs. Harmon Mullins, the mother, and Anna Lee and Vernie, two children, were the victims. Five other children were seriously burned before they could escape from the flaming structure.
Mullins, the father, who also was badly burned, saved the lives of five day-old twins when he rolled them in a feather bed and tossed it from the window.
The origin of the blaze was not determined.

COUNTERFEITERS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Warning was received over the telegraph printer at the police station today for the authorities to be on the lookout for three men wanted by the United States secret service for the passing of counterfeit ten dollar bills.
According to the warning issued the three men are traveling in a Packard sedan, 1922 model, Pennsylvania license 781A3. The driver of the machine is said to have the appearance indicating that he is a Jew, is about 35 years of age, 5 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 175-180 pounds, light complexion and is wearing a light tan colored soft hat and a blue form fitting overcoat. The description of the other two men is not known.

Begin Battle For World War Vets Pensions

Senator Robison Of Kentucky
Collaborates With Swick
In Presentation Of Bill

FIND PRESENT LAW IS DISCRIMINATORY

(By ARTHUR C. WIMMER, Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12.—
What promises to be the opening gun in the first attempt to enact pension legislation by Congress for veterans of the World War has been fired with the introduction of the Robison-Swick bill in both houses of that body.

Representative J. Howard Swick presented the bill in the House, while Senator Robison of Kentucky, formerly the ranking member of the House Pension Committee, offered the bill in the Senate.

The present measure is a composite one embodying features contained in other bills introduced by various members of Congress, and is the result of a series of conferences held by Senator Robison and Congressman Swick, which were attended by representatives of the three major World War veterans associations.

Representative Knutson, chairman of the House Pensions Committee, to which the bill has been referred, has called on the bureau of pensions for a report on the bill, the receipt of which will probably be followed by hearings before the members of the committee.

"As a physician and a veteran of the World War," Congressman Swick declared in connection with his bill, "I have been impressed with the need for immediate pension legislation for veterans of the World War after learning through my own experience in attempting to prove service connection of disabled men in my own district. This together with the evidence submitted in recent hearings on bills intended to amend the World War Veterans' Act all of which in my professional opinion are discriminatory, convinces me that the only way to solve the problem of justice for disabled veterans and their dependents is by enactment of a pension bill.

"This bill will in the opinion of those with whom I have conferred and myself result in great administrative economies, eliminate all possibilities of injustice due to difficulties in establishing service connection of disabled men, and accomplish the ends desired by a grateful nation in the welfare of its defenders."

Belboys, waiters and alleged bootleggers to date have been arrested,
Campbell also was disturbed.
Campbell also warned cafes and night clubs not to serve ginger ale and "accessories, such as glasses and ice, to persons carrying their own liquor.

A systematic raiding of Broadway's night clubs, hotels and cafes was predicted.

Once Big Vessel Smouldering Hulk

Estimate Damage Of Close To Two Million And Half To Liner Muen-chen

FIREMEN FINALLY CONTROL FLAMES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The once-beautiful German liner Muenchen which had just steamed proudly into port from Bremen was only a smouldering hulk today.

Fire which boiled through the hold of the vessel shortly after the 267 passengers were safely ashore was attributed today to spontaneous combustion. The cargo included inflammable potash and nitrate.

Four explosions followed the flames.
They ripped holes in the heat-blistered sides of the liner and sank her keel to the mud of the Hudson river alongside the pier.

Two Are Killed.
A fireman and a member of the crew were killed. A dozen persons, mostly firemen, were injured.

John Harvey, pilot of the Fireboat
Thomas Willett, was hurled overboard from his craft, from the force of one of the thundering explosions. He sank unconscious into the icy waters.
His body was recovered hours later.

Gustav Franke, electrician of the Muenchen, was believed to have lost his life in the line of duty. He was last seen at the power control box shortly before the first terrific blast.

After almost 24 hours of battling the flames, firemen today announced they had the fire under control. It was feared previously that further explosions might occur or that the liner might totter over on the adjoining pier.

Damage was estimated at from $2-000,000 to $2,500,000.

Despondent Man Wounds Wife, Self And Two Children

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—George Hon-charevich, 43, shot and probably fatally wounded his wife, Katherine, near here today, slashed his own throat with a razor and slashed the wrists of his two sons, Peter, 15, and George, nine, according to police.
At a hospital physicians said the father and mother would probably die. The reason for Honcharevich's actions, police said, was despondency because he was out of work.

Arthur Mometer

If Honest Abe were back today, and saw the land he loved so well, it he could see the progress made, what yarns he'd spin, what tales he'd tell.
The nation that he held intact is now united, strong and free, and yet I wonder if it is the nation he would have it be. I wonder if this wave of crime would worry him as it does us, would it bring down his storm of wrath, would Lincoln like the constant fuss, set up by men of high degree, I wonder just what he would do if he came back today a while and visited, it's fifty-two

Big Industrial Exhibit Will Be Feature Of Show

Products Of New Castle Industries Will Be Shown At Coming Auto Show

COMMITTEE MEETS ON PLANS TODAY

One of the biggest side features in connection with the coming automobile show in the Cathedral on February 27, 28 and March 1, will be the industrial exhibit, plans for which were announced by General Chairman James Foster this morning.

Already 14 local industries have promised to cooperate and will have their products on display in the main lobby of the Cathedral. New Castle people will thus be given an opportunity of seeing some of the things which are made by New Castle industries, which is expected to prove a revelation to the uninitiated.

Then in addition to this there will be a style show put on by the New Castle Dry Goods company, announcement of which has been previously made.

Members of the general committee on arrangements for the show are holding a meeting this afternoon when the details of the various projects in connection with the show will be worked out.

With every auto dealer in the city cooperating, the show this year will be the biggest ever held. It is sponsored by the New Castle Auto Dealers association, a branch of the national organization.

Spaces were allotted for the show at the meeting of the association last week, assurances being given that 64 different models of cars will be on exhibition at the show.

C. B. Hamilton, Lincoln avenue, veteran of the Civil War, saw Abraham Lincoln, martyred president, of the United States, on at least two occasions of which he has a vivid recollection. The first of these occasions was when President Lincoln reviewed the troops following the Battle of Antietam. The second occasion was when his command as well as many others were rushed to the defense of Washington, D. C., in the late days of the war, to defend the Capitol from a threatened raid of General Early, who was coming down the Shenandoah Valley to the Capitol. It was the quick maneuvering of Sheridan's cavalry that stopped the threatened raid. It was here that Mr. Hamilton saw President Lincoln get up on the trenches to view the surrounding country. Mr. Hamilton was a member of Company G, 13th Pennsylvania Infantry and saw three years of active service.

Brown Takes Action To Enforce New City Ordinance.

W. A. Brown, sealer of weights and measures made his first arrest today growing out of the coke and coal ordinance.

He alleges in an information before Alderman Mantz that Ed. Barrea changed the figures of a weigh-bill. The change was in a misreading and the action was brought about when Brown was notified of an alleged shortage in coal.

He found that the wholesaler had sold the right amount but alleges the figures were changed by the driver and the information followed. Three slips are made out when coal or coke is sold. One is kept by the wholesaler, one by the driver or retailer and one goes to the consumer. This gives the city an opportunity of checking any shortage.

afterward wrote the Dred Scott Decision, was opposed. Taney secured confirmation finally. Hughes was not without friends in the senate. Most administration leaders remained silent while Insurgents and Democrats assailed the nominee on economic grounds, hopeful that their silence would shorten debate. A few Republicans and Democrats too—Senators Gillett (R), of Mass., Copeland (D) and Wagner (D) of N. Y., leading—voiced approval of Hughes' appointment and praised his high qualities.

The opposition was specific, under the leadership of Senator William E. Borah (R) of Ida., and George W. Norris (R) of Neb. Borah and Norris attacked Hughes' great ability as a lawyer but contended his economic views should bar him from Supreme Court. They argued the Supreme Court has more power than congress; the chief justice more influence on public welfare than the president of the United States.

Borah particularly condemned Hughes' views toward Federal regulation of radio, oil, and railroad companies, on the railroad valuation question, the state control of public utilities and even Federal control of utilities.

RECALLS HIS MEETING WITH ABRAHAM LINCOLN

say a word. Then he took a piece of paper, wrote something on it and told me to take it to Stanton. I didn't like Stanton, so I sneaked a look at the note.

Winget picked up the paper which has become one of his most precious possessions. It is a sheet of White House stationery, faded and worn and across it march two lines of faded, angular writing. The note reads: "Haven't we better spank this drummer boy and send him back home to Leavenworth?"

A. Lincoln. "That was too much," Winget said with a smile. "I began to cry. So he took me by the hand and we started out. I was still pretty scared, thinking of that tanning, but I felt better, feeling his hand in mine. "But I didn't get the spanking. He took me to the Ebbetts House, where we met Stanton, and Mr. Lincoln said something to him. What it was, I don't know, but I do know I got three rationed, clean clothes and transportation home—but no spanking."

THE GRAB BAG

February 12, 1930.

Who am I? What state do I represent in the senate? Who is the other senator from my state?

When did the U. S. constitution go into effect?

What actress identified with the lines, "That's all there is—there isn't any more."

"And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple." Where is this passage found in the Bible?

Correctly Speaking—Statements permanently true should be put in the present tense. For example, "He said that red is a primary color."

Today's Anniversary—On this day, in 1809, Abraham Lincoln was born.

Today's Horoscope—Persons born on this day, like to create an air of mystery about themselves, which is annoying to their friends. They do not enthusiastically receive new ideas since they prefer to originate them themselves.

STAR LORE OBSERVING THE DOPPLER SHIFT IN THE SOLAR SPECTRUM

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter
Let us note an example of the Doppler effect, the shifting of spectrum lines toward the violet or the red, as a source of light is approaching or receding from the observer. When a spectrum of the eastern and of the western limbs of the sun are taken at the same time on a photographic plate, the lines photographing the eastern limb (edge) are shifted toward the violet, while the lines photographing the western limb are shifted toward the red, due to the fact that the eastern limb is approaching the observer, while the western limb is rotating away from the observer. This idea once grasped is intensively interesting.

Louise Gross, of New York, chairman of the Women's Moderation Union; Walter W. Liggett, writer who stirred Boston with articles on prohibition.

"The 18th Amendment and the enforcement of it have been tested for ten years without satisfactory results," said Chairman Graham.

"No one wants the restoration of the old conditions or the saloon. We may well ask, cannot control and regulation of the liquor traffic supply the place of prohibition?"

While Rep. Sabath (D) of Ill. was arguing for state control of liquor, Rep. Michener rebuked the audience for applauding.

Reports On His Study.
Introduced by Rep. Sabath, Liggett detailed the results of a seven-months study of prohibition.

"Gentlemen, there are 700 speak-easies in Washington, operating day and night," he said.

"There are 4,000 bootleggers in the National Capital. I think I can prove that 1,600,000 gallons of liquor are consumed each year here. There are six million gallons of home brew made. I proved this by checking up on the sales of wholesale groceries and other stores."

"Arrests for drunkenness are increasing as well as other crimes in Washington. Arrests for drunkenness alone have trebled since prohibition."

Liggett then turned to Boston, where he recently conducted investigations.

"Before prohibition there were 1000 open saloons in Boston. Now there are 4,000 open speak-easies and 15,000 purveyors of liquor. They carry on with police corruption. This corruption has touched higher up even ex-governors, ex-secretaries of governors and commissioners of safety who have sold confiscated booze. I presented these facts to a grand jury and I think the grand jury will return indictments."

Turns To Kansas.
Turning to Kansas, he said: "There isn't a town in Kansas where I cannot get a drink of liquor and good liquor at that in 15 minutes."

He said he found bootleggers operating in 16 counties in Kansas. Wichita, he said, is wide open.

all night debauch in a road house outside Detroit on the evening of November 5 and morning of Nov. 6, 1929.

The liquor was furnished by Denny Murphy, a gambler, and nude girls danced, he said.

"You have the proof?" interrupted Rep. Michener.

"The statements I make are criminal libel and I will furnish the proof if called upon but I will not be called upon," said Liggett.

Liggett added that four circuit judges attended the Denny Murphy party.

In Detroit
"Mass production of crime is in its fullest flower in Detroit," he said.

"The city is in the grip of racketeers, there is police corruption and grafting politicians," he said.

There were 20,000 speak-easies in Detroit two years ago. Rep. Michener interrupted to say that since that time a new mayor has been elected.

"I will say," added Liggett, "that Detroit police are not as corrupt as in many other cities."

Liggett also assailed prohibition enforcement where Andrew Volstead, author of the national prohibition act is legal adviser of the prohibition administrator. He declared there is more drinking in Minnesota than before prohibition.

"There is not a decent speak-easy in Minneapolis," he said.

Most of them have false fronts and are in effect houses of prostitution, he said.

There are, he added, about 300 "beer flats" in Minneapolis where girls entertain with drinking parties, he said.

He told the committee that sale of liquor has solved the farm problem for many Minnesota farmers.

High school boys and girls, he said, have driven from Minneapolis to a "beer farm" 50 miles away for debauches.

Dry members plied Liggett with questions.

Answering a question of Rep. Sparks (R) of Kansas, Liggett said there is less drinking in western Kansas than other parts.

He asserted that five members of the "snooping squad" had been fired in Kansas in the last week, since his exposure. One of them, he said, had declared conditions worse than Liggett pictured.

"I believe that if you have ten years more of prohibition this country will be ruled by underworld rates and crooked politicians," he said.

Liquor, he said, is the basis of all crime in this country.

Answering a question of Rep. Michener, Liggett said he had not intended to indict the entire administration of Detroit.

"I have no charges to make against Mayor Lodge," he said.

He would not give the names of the judges he said attended the all night debauch. Three of them, he said, have not yet gone on the bench.

Liggett referred to Ex-Mayor Smith as the man who told him that there were 20,000 speak-easies in Detroit two years ago.

He asserted that Smith drove the biggest gamblers out of Detroit and they immediately opened up in Wayne county.

Relief Promised To Hundreds In Chicago Without Ready Cash

Mayor William Hale Thompson Ready To Cooperate With Citizens Relief Committee.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—With Mayor William Hale Thompson at last willing to cooperate with the Citizens' Relief committee, prompt relief for city and school employees was predicted today as the result of a "get-together" meeting of city officials and a sub committee of Silas H. ## Verdict Victory Says City Official Attaches of the city today looked upon the verdict of $837.00, in favor of Edward McDonald in his damage suit against the city, as a victory for Solicitor Robert White. McDonald sued as the result of grading.

Trustee Is Trying To Secure Assets

Suit Of Charles R. Davis, Trustee Against Southern Surety Company, Is Called.

The case of Attorney R. Davis, trustee in bankruptcy for C. B. Burns and I. R. Burt, doing business as Burns and Burt against the Southern Surety Company, was taken up for trial before Judge Chambers, this morning.

Burns and Burt had the contracts for improving a part of the Ellwood road and a section of the Harlansburg road from Harlansburg east to the Butler county line in 1922-3. The work was done by the county and a bond was secured by Burns and Burt from the Southern Surety Company for the faithful performance of the work.

It is claimed that after the Harlansburg job was completed that the Southern Surety Company took possession of the road building machinery owned by Burns and Burt. Later the firm of Burns and Burt went into bankruptcy and Attorney Charles R. Davis was appointed trustee. Davis claims that the seizure of the machinery of Burns and Burt by the Surety Company was unwarranted, and that it should be turned over to the trustee to form a part of the assets of the bankrupts.

There is also a question regarding some payments on the contracts which were made by the county commissioners and the checks turned over to the Southern Surety Company.

LINCOLN'S ANNIVERSARY

At a time when more or less irresponsible assertions are heard in various quarters that democracy is on trial in the Old World, the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln is an appropriate occasion for a renewal of faith in that American democracy of which he was the product. The assertion that democracy does not produce great men sounds absurd when Lincoln is mentioned. In all the range of recorded history, no form of political society has ever produced a greater or nobler example of the possibilities of free manhood.

The humblest youth, whether native or foreign born, sees in Lincoln the proof that in this land of equal opportunity there is no limit to attainment by anyone who possesses courage and adaptability, conjoined with the talent—or as may be, the genius—to recognize and grasp the special openings that come in his way.

Lincoln had not the advantage that comes from birth in a wealthy family, nor the prestige conferred by a great university. He was, in the best sense, self-made. His formal schooling under frontier conditions totaled less than a year. Yet by natural worth he rose to be the head of this powerful Republic, and when there guided its destinies through the tremendous crisis of the Civil War with a masterliness that compelled the homage of the rulers and peoples of Europe.

In that almost miraculous firmness can be seen by all men the mettle of democracy, the unrelenting purpose of the man who had fought his way upwards. Yet with this unyielding rigor went a nature as kindly, as generous, as sympathetic with suffering or grief-stricken humanity, as could be found anywhere among the teeming millions of men. Those who were privileged to see the gentle smile of pity that often transfigured that countenance which was often described as homely have handed down the tradition of its beauty.

Abraham Lincoln is the complete vindication of American democracy. He sprang from the "plain people," whom he loved, was among the greatest of men.

MALIGNING THE AUTO

After exhaustive study of the situation a Washington barrister has come to the conclusion that the automobile is largely responsible for the small percentage of Americans who vote. The public will accept his "conclusion" as a theory only for the reason that it recognizes in the argument an old but untrustworthy friend.

The Washington attorney may have made an exhaustive study of the question, but it is suspected his "research" amounted in the final analysis to the drawing of the wrong conclusion from the fact that as the number of automobiles has increased the percentage of qualified electors voting has diminished. The conclusion he jumped at is that the automobile, therefore, is responsible for the failure of the American citizen to exercise his right of franchise.

Couldn't he have seen in the same comparison of statistics proof that the declining vote is to blame for the increasing popularity of the automobile. Why didn't he blame the radio? Or the apartment house? Or the bungalow? Or the increased bank deposits? Or prohibition? Or the movies? Or the flapper age? Or the rising wage scale? Or the increase in the number of eligible voters through the enfranchisement of women?

But the automobile has a positive defense as well as this negative one. In fact it claims credit for bringing to the polls a large percentage of the vote that is cast. No election day observer who sees the extensive employment of the automobile in transporting men and women to and from the polls will deny the automobile this credit. The vote is small, but without the automobile in this age of large election districts it would be much smaller.

DEPLETION OF STREAMS

Many a fisherman has wondered why he did not get more bites. He has blamed the weather, the direction of the wind, his bait. At one time he decides he has the wrong kind of tackle, and at another he blames the stage of the water. Again, he settles down to belief that old-timers who prate about catching them as long as their arms and as fast as they could reel them in are tall talkers with little regard for truth.

There may or may not be consolation to him in the conclusion reached by federal agents that the streams have been overfished.

Ten million people in the United States go fishing at least once a year. And, due to accessibility of fishing streams by automobile, a large percentage of that number are pretty constantly on the job during the fishing season. The consequence is that they are taking fish faster than nature, helped by the government, can replenish the supply.

Federal, state and private hatcheries are turning out an average of 1,100,000 young fish annually. This should be enough to give every one of the ten million anglers plenty of sport. That it does not is due to the fact that the infant mortality rate is high among the young fish because of lack of food and their natural enemies.

Something should be done about it, fishing being among the inalienable rights of the citizen. But few fishermen are willing to surrender a season or so to give the game fish a chance to multiply, and if the government closes streams to all fishing for a year or so it forfeits that revenue from fishing licenses which has been used in some states to stock the streams.

NEW HOPE FOR CHESTNUT TREES

From time to time comes a promise that a new resistant to the chestnut blight has been discovered and eventually new trees will develop immune from the devastation which wrought havoc in Pennsylvania. The latest hope is extended by Dr. Joseph E. Illick, who shares with Governor Pinchot the reputation this commonwealth enjoys for authoritative forestry knowledge.

Sprouts from a few resistant trees had enough vitality to produce nuts and those nuts have now grown to trees whose fruit Dr. Illick expects to replenish the state. The tragedy was pandemic. Infinite patience and study have been expended in an effort to conquer the disease. If the research has now come to flower the experiment may be widely hailed with rejoicing.

One-half the world can't see why the other half lives.

Few of our larger public monuments are erected to citizens who always had a perfect alibi.

Amnesia wouldn't be unbearable if one had some choice in the matter of memories to be discarded.

Fortunately, only a limited number of persons accumulate enough money to get their divorce scandals featured in the newspapers.

The All-Wing Plane.
Somebody's Son.
Ogden L. Mills' Figures.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE (Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—"Shell" Oil, British concern challenging American oil men in their own territory, orders five flying machines to speed up business. The example was set, when Standard of Indiana and other American oil companies sent their directors and salesmen flying, some years ago.

The extraordinary energy of the "Shell-Detering" organization, annoys some American oil men, no doubt. But as they have always preached the great value of competition as compared with anything like public ownership, the oil corporations will doubtless welcome the British display of competing energy.

In developing airplanes, the important thing is for engineers to think about flying, without any imitation of birds or any animal or thing now existing. Railroads would not have gone far if locomotive builders had tried to imitate the swift deer, producing a machine with four powerful legs, or levers, pushing along the tracks like the legs of a running deer.

The Northrop Air Corporation, division of United Aircraft, has demonstrated something new here. The new plane, the "Northrop All-Wing," is a flying metal wing, free from the "parasitic wind resistance" of struts and other encumbrances, to retard the plane's motion.

Able engineers interested in the new plane believe that, with the same horsepower, it will increase speed by from 25 to 30 per cent.

Young Mr. MacDonald, son of the British Prime Minister, leaves Los Angeles tomorrow for Washington, and, setting a good example, goes by airplane.

The younger MacDonald, wise young man, observed American conditions closely and refuses to be taken too seriously, saying, "I am only somebody's son."

There is a big difference between saying that and saying as some of our rich young gentlemen do, "I am the son of SOMEBODY."

Ogden L. Mills, under secretary of the United States Treasury, in a few words, convinces you that this country has genuine prosperity, if prosperity consists in giving more of life's good things than anybody else gets.

The United States has only 7 per cent of the world's population and yet, says Mr. Mills, "that 7 per cent consumes approximately 48 per cent of the world's coffee, 53 per cent of the tin, 58 per cent of the crude rubber, 21 per cent of the sugar, 72 per cent of the raw silk, 36 per cent of the coal, 42 per cent of the pig iron, 47 per cent of the copper and 69 per cent of the crude petroleum."

"Out of nearly 32,000,000 automobiles in the world on January 1, 1929, more than 24,000,000 were owned in the United States."

We certainly get our share. Perhaps the League Court will tell us we get too much.

Long ago, good missionaries went to Batavia, N. Y., to convert the red men.

Chief Red Jacket who now has his fine bronze statue in a Buffalo park, listened patiently to the story of the Crucifixion, and said:

"If you white men killed your God, that is shameful. But it is your affair, not ours. If he had come to us (Continued On Page Five)

The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord, our Lord, God, enrich us with a fuller knowledge of all Thy works, for in them Thy goodness flows around our incompleteness. Father, there are still clinging to us fears and doubts, faiths and hopes, longings and aspirations which no human power can allay or satisfy. O hear us and be at the altar of every heart, thou knowest God and our everlasting Father. Restore our souls by that quiet communion in sweet solitude which can not be uttered and where it will fall on other than God's ears. ### N. Y. Phone Rate Settlement Leaves Issue Still Cloudy

While Company Gives Heed To Ruling Of State Utilities Commission Some Predictions Point To Fight In Congress

Clashes between state and federal authority in New York, growing out of the proposed higher telephone rates, are temporarily averted, but predictions are made that Congress may be asked to clear up the situation. Although the New York Telephone Company, relying on constitutional provision against confiscation, and a federal court decree, fixed its own rates, it has surrendered by temporary acceptance of the schedule of the state public service commission.

"A distinct victory for the state" is recognized by the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE, with the comment on the situation: "Nobody familiar with constitutional law can deny the right of a public utility corporation to seek relief from insufficient rates in a federal court when the question of confiscation arises. Private property must be respected and protected by the federal power whenever its owners are threatened with loss by state action or inaction. But this does not mean that public utility corporations for which regulation is provided by the state law shall ignore the regulating power of the state and evade the jurisdiction of state courts by first rushing into federal tribunals." The supreme court of the United States rebuked the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for doing that very thing.

"A serious crisis" in the opinion of the SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN, "has been avoided by the backdown of the Telephone Company in submitting to the rate order of the commission." The company, "continues that paper," "had announced a new rate schedule to yield a 7 per cent return. The commission was told by the company's lawyer at Albany that it had no power to interfere; that the company was acting under a decree of the federal court granting it a 7 per cent return on a fair valuation." The New York commission promptly put the company's legal assumption to a test by reducing many of the company's proposed rates 20 per cent and ordering the new rate schedule thus revised to be put into effect. The result is that the company tentatively accepts the commission's 20 per cent discount and even admits that it could not interfere with the commission's order except by going into court. And it will be a state court that the company will first appeal to against the commission. Which is a wise decision.

The HARTFORD TIMES, quoting the company's contention that "the state could interfere with the company rates only by showing them to be disproportionate to a 7 per cent return or by offering in substitution its own rates which would yield 7 per cent," says the resulting action that the "Public Service Commission has chosen the latter method of attack and announced a schedule of rates effective as of Saturday which is a reduction of 20 per cent from those announced by the company. In arriving at this schedule the commission reduced by $27,000,000 the valuation by the company upon which it was entitled to earn a 7 per cent return. The belief in New York is that there will be a further litigation, probably marked by another appeal to the federal court."

"As we look at it," remarks the SYRACUSE HERALD, "the Telephone Company committed a serious tactical error when it assumed that the generalized decision of the court establishing its valuation and standardizing its percentage of returns or earnings gave it judicial carte blanche for determining its own increase of rates in absolute disregard of the rate-fixing power of the state. The court laid down a general rule as a new foundation for such rate regulation, for the guidance of the state and of its representative commission. But the court did and could not deny or abrogate the rate-fixing power of the commission within the limits created by its decision."

An opportunity is seen by the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, in this controversy, "to develop very important legislation relating to the supervision and permissible profits of public-service corporations. This may require," continues the Evening News, "co-operation from Congress as well as state legislation. The body of statute laws and judicial decisions resting on the 'due process' clause in the federal constitution still is very confused and ill co-ordinated. The entire subject may be opened before this agitation which the telephone cases have aroused is terminated."

Considering the federal requirements in the matter, the BALTIMORE SUN says: "So long as it is established that the federal constitution grants utilities protection against being deprived of their property without due process of law, and as long as the United States supreme court ultimate authority on the meaning of that phrase, holds that such protection requires that the utilities be allowed to charge rates that yield a reasonable return upon a reasonable valuation of the property devoted to the public service, all disputes of utility rates must ultimately be settled by that court."

"Regardless of what legislation may be passed by Congress," according to the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "it is doubtful if the avenue of appeal to federal courts can be closed. A constitutional right stands in the way. The real purpose of the movement to curb federal interference in state utility rate cases should be to compel the utilities to avail themselves of processes in state courts before appealing to the federal courts. Another relief would be decisions by the federal courts more in line with sound regulation. Regulation is not an exact science, and few judges have had the time to master the intricacies of accountancy which distinguish rate cases."

"There is wonder over this constant lighting in the courts," says the UTICA OBSERVER-DISPATCH, "on the part of this monopoly to secure larger and larger returns. Its securities are among leaders in the high quotations, and there has been no indication of an attempt to confiscate its property on the part of the public. The contention appears to hinge upon what is considered a fair valuation of the property, and one of the problems entering the sub-judice of valuation will doubtless be that of capital investment, including amounts paid through long years of warfare in clearing the field of competition on the part of rival companies, either local or general."

"No illumination has yet been shed," comments the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, "upon the problem of how to preserve the rights of corporations and at the same time make the rule-making of regulating bodies like New York Public Service Commission absolutely effective. Perhaps the only solution is for the regulating bodies to be more nearly perfect in their work of estimating values upon which rates of profit are to be allowed to the utility regulating bodies can never expect, from one case to the next, that the courts will accept the same methods of valuation and depreciation as being correct."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A YOUNG LIBRARY

One of the subsidiaries of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company has published some statistics which justify it in proclaiming that the telephone directory is "some book!"

If all the telephone directories in the United States were put in one volume, the book would have 39,000,000 lines printed on 82,000 pages and it would be more than eleven feet thick. The strong chaps who delight in tearing telephone directories in halves would have some trouble in bisecting this one.

However, the telephone directories are not in one volume. There are 3,100 separate issues, and 33,000,000 copies are printed. To keep names, addresses and telephone numbers up to date, 10,000,000 changes a year must be made. Printing telephone directories is the main job of several large printing plants.

A year's supply of paper weighs about 50,000 tons. If it were necessary to make simultaneous, one-trip deliveries, it would take 10,000 five-ton trucks to do it.

All this to supply numbers for the country's 81,000,000 telephone calls a day.

Steel Demand Shows Further Slight Gain

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—Steel demand has shown a further slight gain during the past week, the weekly summary of the Iron Age states today.

"The most recent expansion of business, however, has not been shared by all producers," the magazine says. "Whereas steel ingot output at Chicago has risen to 50 per cent of capacity, at Pittsburgh it remains at 75 per cent and in the Youngstown district has declined a few points. The average for the country at large has advanced to 79 per cent compared with nearly 77 per cent a week ago."

Demand from railroads has kept up surprisingly with a number of large equipment purchases and structural steel awards. Demand for automobile steel, although still gaining, according to the magazine is not well diversified.

The death of Chief Big Spring, the best and once the richest Indian of the Glacier National Park reservation, reminds you that the Indian is still kind hearted and nerous, at least sometimes.

When severe weather in 1919 and 1920 reduced many Indians almost to starvation, Chief Big Spring killed his cattle, distributing the beef among them, and gave his horses to those that had none. He died very poor.

Doubtless however, the Angel Gabriel kept record of his deeds, and he will be rewarded as though he had been white.

Physical limitations of the "Texas cattledale tick" arouse the sympathies of proud men, because of his mental limitations. The state of Mississippi has built a double row barbed wire fence sixty miles long, the two rows of fencing fifteen feet apart.

Ticks, falling from cattle on the far side of the fence, can never reach Mississippi's cows, because the tick with his eight legs travels so slowly, that it would take him one year to go ten feet. And he lives only about eight months.

Man living about three score and ten, with all his struggling travels only a few inches intellectually in that period and dies without getting anywhere, "mentally," and dies, as he was born, WONDERING.

In China thousands die every day of cold and starvation. Millions of Chinese it is said are doomed to death without hope of escape.

The American China-Famine Relief Fund, contributes generously. But to the average Westerner news of China is like news from the planet Mars. It does not seem real or important.

In answer to the request, "Please explain the change in our attitude toward foreign trade"—
America is a huge market for its own products. For years our producers were satisfied with it, without trying to sell to foreigners. Our main interest was in keeping foreigners from shipping their goods here, and competing with American producers for American customers. But during the war there was a big demand for our wares abroad, because America then was the only country still producing peace-time merchandise. We began to get the foreign trade habit then. American mass production set in about the same time. It over-produced, even for our enormous home demand, so we need foreign customers to take our surplus.

Who discovered gold in Alaska?
What individual made the original Alaskan gold discovery is unknown. The Russians were aware of its existence long before the country's acquisition by the United States in 1867.

Who holds the highest educational office in the United States?
Regarding it as an official position and assuming that a federal post ranks those of a corresponding nature under the respective state governments, the award probably would go to Dr. William John Cooper, commissioner of education in the interior department, though his position carries little if any authority with it but is rather advisory in its character.

Did Peary or Cook discover the north pole?
Admiral Robert E. Peary's attainment of the north pole on April 6, 1909, is scientifically accepted as conclusively established. Dr. Frederick A. Cook laid claim to having preceded him, but his story did not stand investigation and may safely be dismissed as unfounded, though the doctor sticks to it and some persons believe him to have been more or less self-deceived.

Have ex-President Calvin Coolidge and President Herbert Hoover middle names?

As to ex-President Coolidge, no. President Hoover's middle name is Clark.

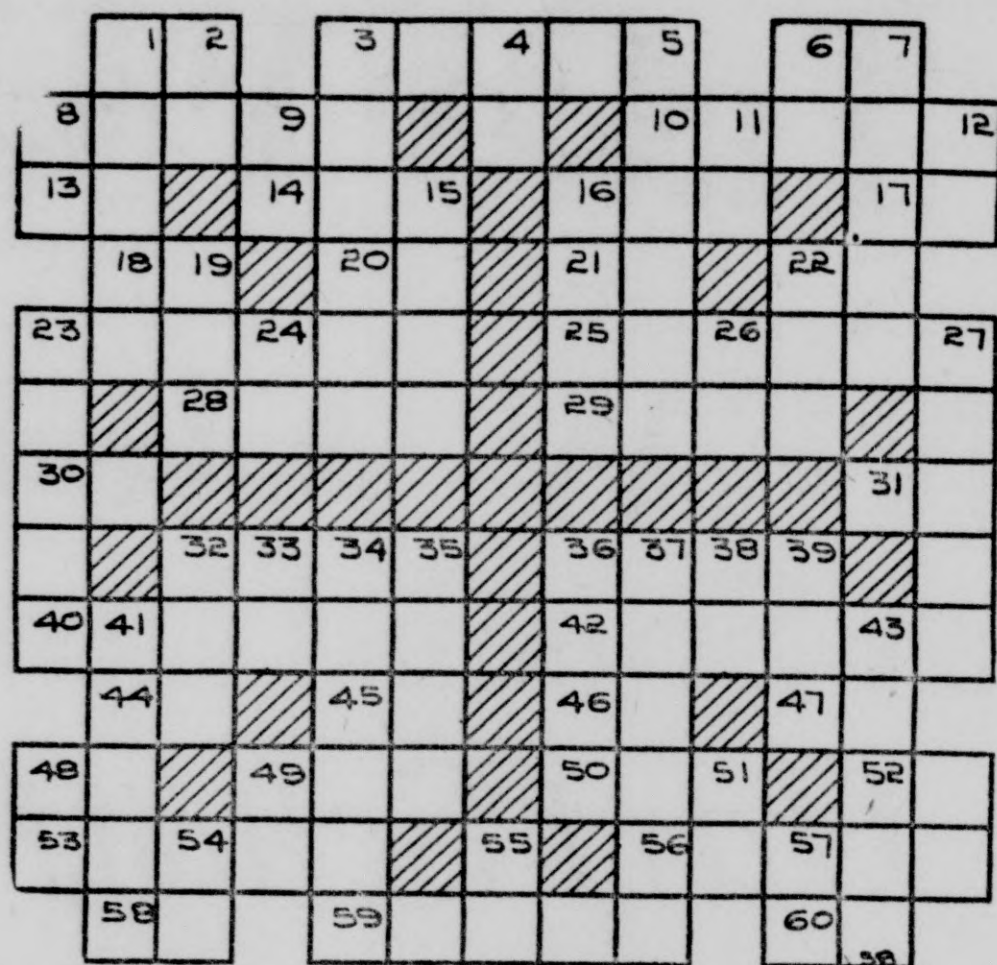

Who was chief justice of the U. S. supreme court at the time of the Dred Scott decision? Who is chief justice now?

Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivered the Dred Scott decision. Charles Evans Hughes is chief justice today, having been recently appointed.

Champs Elysees Proves Death Trap

PARIS, Feb. 12.—Paris, celebrated avenue des Champs Elysees, named in honor of the last resting-place of the glorious dead of the ancients, seems to be particularly well-baptized considering the number of Parisians who have lost their lives or seriously injured themselves along this stretch of highway during the past year.
An average of ten persons daily are killed or injured walking or riding from the Place de la Concorde to the Arch of Triumph, a distance of about two miles. The cause is speeding for the chauffeurs have before them a particularly fine stretch of roadway with only one or two stop lights.

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

DRAGON WITH TWO THOUSAND EYES

Evidently Sir Dragon-Fly liked to hear himself talked about. No sooner had Peter remarked that his face looked all eyes, than Dragon-Fly dropped from the sky on a fern close by Peter.

"You keep your eyes open, boy. I'll say that much for you!" said he. "And if I know anything at all you never let them deceive you. Of course my face seems all eyes. Why shouldn't it? It is. Do you know how many 'windows' I have in my head?" Peter didn't. However, that was no reason for him saying nothing.

"I should say there were hundreds of eyes in your head," said he, then laughed at the very idea. "But of course I must be mistaken. Maybe the light makes them appear more and larger." Sir Dragon-Fly snorted. "Stuff and nonsense!" shrilled he. "Don't make me laugh. The light has nothing to do with it. You were right in the first place. Believe it or not, I have a thousand tiny eyes in each of my two great eyes. That makes two thousand eyes, if I know my multiplication table. You can be sure nothing ever escapes my sight." Peter gasped.

"I shall have to take your word for it, but really, I never heard of such a thing. Two thousand eyes! Why, I have but two, and yet I see perfectly. What's the big idea?" "Self-protection," declared Dragon-Fly, shortly. "I need every one of the two thousand to have me from my enemies. And you haven't heard anything yet. What would you say if I were to tell you that my cousins have forty thousand eyes all the better to see with? Of course they're regular giants, but even so, you'd scarcely expect anything like that, would you?" Peter was speechless, and Dragon-Fly changed the subject by asking a question.

"Do you know what the insects call me?" Dragon-Fly glared at the boy. Peter shook his head. Try to remember as he would, he simply couldn't. "Sorry, Lady Bug mentioned it, but I've forgotten," said he, and held his breath. Perhaps Dragon-Fly wouldn't forgive his being so stupid.

LOWEST-PRICED EIGHT IN THE WORLD

The fact that the new De Soto Straight Eight is the lowest-priced Eight in the world does not mean that one iota of quality has been sacrificed.

From every standpoint—this newest Chrysler-engineered creation achieves a quality exceeding that of any other car in its price class, and of many that list well above it.

The features briefly described below are highlights of its quality construction.

Unisteel Construction of Chassis and Body

A new and radical departure. 18 points of superiority over existing practice . . . Body and chassis designed as a unit, eliminating body sills and all other wooden parts.

Down-Draft Carburetion

Employing a principle which permits gravity to assist in conducting the vaporized gasoline mixture into the cylinders. This type of carburetion results in a substantial increase in power.

Hydraulic Four-Wheel Brakes

The only type of brake in which equalization is inherent, automatic and permanent. The braking pressure exerted is always identical on all four wheels. Simple, rapid, smooth and quiet.

Full-Pressure Engine Lubrication

Oil is supplied to all bearings by positive, pump circulation through drilled passages. Cored passages are not used because of roughness and hazard of stoppage.

Rubber-Cushioned Spring Shackles

All shackles mounted in vulcanized rubber—no metal-to-metal contacts—no need for lubrication.

In addition to these outstanding quality features of the new De Soto Straight Eight, there are many others worthy of mention, and generally found only on motor cars of much higher price.

Here's Nutshell Glance Of Y. M. C. A. Club Work

Boys' Work Head, Who Supervises Each, Makes Resume Of Doings

"FORTY BY SPRING"
NEW GOAL SET UP

Club work provides one of the greatest means of service for the Young Men's Christian Association here. Boys' Work Director W. A. Thomas, who supervises all club activity, declared this morning. Nineteen such organizations for young men and boys are functioning at present while it is the aim of Y secretaries to have 40 different clubs through the process of formation by early spring.

"Never before," said Mr. Thomas, speaking of the campaign now at its height, "have we endeavored to form so many. It is a part of this year's program of the national council and so the quota for our association has been set at 40."

Universal Program.
Practically every unit of the "triangle institution" chain will take part and there's sort of a competition around. The New Castle record so far equals that of the East Liberty association, regarded as one of the most enthusiastic and largest of the western Pennsylvania district.

Attendance at 70 January meetings of the clubs was far in excess of the $600 mark, figures compiled by Mr. Thomas reveal.

Membership is another factor upon which heavy stress will be placed during the remainder of February, all of March and throughout the early part of April. Twelve hundred new names is the goal towards which the boys' department alone will work.

Nineteen Groups So Far.
A brief sketch of the clubs that are well organized and are now proceeding under their own power, so to speak, was given by Mr. Thomas. The outline shows their officers and for what purpose they exist. The club summary:

First of all is the Phalanx fraternity, headed by a primus, or president, now Alfred H. Owens; meets each Wednesday night, and its membership numbers 28; promotes boys' work on the south side, especially among the Sclero street children; their slogan is "Service".

Urutata fraternity is the newest. With a purpose similar to Phalanx the Urutata fellows, all high school grads but none over 21, do their bit. Intentions are to aid the boys' work secretary, and their slogan bears out this purpose: "To serve Christ, through humanity, by continual service." William McLaughlin is the president.

Oldest and Largest.
Probably the oldest is the senior Hi-Y; 55 boys are on its roll. Melvin Moorehouse was recently named president, and its motto aims "to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. They meet Monday nights.

A by-product but altogether an entirely separate group from the senior Hi-Y is the group who go under the term, Gospel Team. The team conducts services in the city and elsewhere when called. Eleven different congregations were hosts to the team so far this winter.

Club number five is the George Washington junior Hi-Y. Over this young Heber Baldwin presides as majordomo. Meeting nights are Tuesday. The faculty advisor is J. C. Ward.

"Most recently the group conducted a vigorous campaign on clean talk and clean scholarship."

Benjamin Franklin junior high school is another which sports an enthusiastic Hi-Y, but up there only "early risers" can belong—meetings occur in the early morn, not evening. Breakfast is served in the cafeteria at 7:30 and then a meeting, followed by a bee-line skip to their classes. Harold Sanders is generalissimo there, while Daniel Racapio, faculty member, is the supervisor.

All Musicians.
Another scarcely heard of but nevertheless active group of musicians, something of a by-product of Ben Franklin's Hi-Y mother club is the Hi-Y orchestra, furnishing music and entertainment at various Hi-Y and outside functions is its prime purpose. The Junior Triangle lads form group number eight. Here Samuel Bambino is the president and Linden Bruce is the supervisor. These lads, most of them in grade school, aim to better their lives on the four-fold plan.

Then comes a host of other boys' clubs, all striving to instill the purpose of right living into the group. There are five friendly Indian groups comprised of small boys, and the discussions center around Bible characters. Edgar Beal, Roger Meermans and Mr. Thomas plan the work and activities of these.

Melting Pot Here.
Others follow in line. The Brotherhood Love club which meets Friday evenings and consists of boys of 13 nationalities. They solve school, home and life conditions as best they can and is one of the most interesting Y. M. C. A. groups.

Then the Fred Rentz Newsboys, of 35 boys, and four others now about past the organization point are also on the Y docks.

The more than 5,000 attendance in January includes only the regular club attendance and is entirely exclusive of the 14 social events which the different clubs staged.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—Little hope is held here today for the recovery of Charles F. Bankert, 50-year-old railroader, who is in Presbyterian hospital with a bullet wound in his chest inflicted yesterday during a quarrel with Mrs. Ella Owens, 44, of the Northside. Mrs. Owens, according to police, shot Bankert, her alleged lover, and then killed herself with the same revolver.

Jesse M. Owens, who was the husband of Mrs. Owens is a travelling salesman for a Pittsburgh concern. According to morgue attendants, he learned of the tragedy in his home yesterday afternoon when in Connellsville, Pa., where he read newspaper accounts of the shooting.

Police blamed jealousy of Bankert's attention to other women as the motive for the shooting and suicide. Mrs. Owens' body is to be shipped to New York for burial, morgue attendants said.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts If Your Back Hurts, or Bladder Is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

AN ORDERLY LIFE

When Edward Bok was 56 he retired from active business. He said he wanted to be an unofficial public servant and give the rest of his years to doing things for human welfare. Few men have been so successful and have carried out their lives in such orderly fashion. Bok lived ten years after he retired, and spent time and money generously for the public good. Men who have programs like this ought to retire early. Those who do not have intelligent programs may do better to stay on the routine job.

Bok, a poor boy and an immigrant, furnishes an almost perfect example of what a young man can do for himself in this republic if he keeps awake.

THE SMALL TOWN
We are always newly amazed by the wonders of great cities. With populations reaching the millions, skyscrapers, electric power and all the wonders of metropolitan life, one thinks of the city as the last word in present civilization. The fact is that this is the day of the small town. Rural areas are coming into their own. The village is making a successful bid for industry. The drift from the small towns to the cities is not so great. The pendulum is swinging back.

WHERE LIVING IS PLEASANTEST
It takes the editor of a small paper to paint the brightest picture of the "back to rural America" movement. Hear the Longview (Wash.) Daily News:

"Not long ago the nation was stirred by the drift of population away from farms and rural areas into the great cities. Young men, attracted by the high wages paid by industry and what appeared to be the superior social and economic advantages of urban life, deserted the soil for the city."

"In the past quarter century rural America has made tremendous progress. Better schools, good roads, the automobile, telephone and radio have created a rural civilization greater than any in history."

"Industrialists, attracted by such factors as lack of labor difficulties, low taxes and uncongested, pleasant living and working conditions, have been barred from entry into the small town only because of lack of power."

"Now, according to authorities, the smaller towns are on the road to industrial leadership of America and the countryside is staged for the next scene of our industrial progress. The drift of population has turned it present the only pronounced gain in industrial wage earners is taking place in the country."

(Current Feature)
The staccato of rapid fire machine guns and the roar of airplanes caused by the Columbia company on location in San Diego during the production of the all-talking aviation film, "Flight," now playing at the Nixon Theatre, gave the San Diegans a good scare until they found out what it was all about. The sounds, indicative of battle in progress, led them to believe that war had again broken out across the border in Mexico.
Upon investigation it was discovered that the bloody battle was being fought for "Flight," and that the mangled, bleeding mass of humanity which carried on the battle was a group of actors, none of whom were actually being shot despite the fact that the blood was streaming down their faces. So complete in every detail was the skirmish that the Marine officers, who had come down from the army base to watch the battle, were startled by the remarkable accuracy of the manoeuvres.
The principals in this aviation attraction are Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Ralph Graves. Frank R. Capra directed.

Committees Of Legion Report Banquet Plans

Indications Point To Biggest National Commander's Banquet In History

PLANS MADE TO REPAIR LEGION HOME

Enthusiastic reports of the coming National Commander's banquet on March 4, were made by the general chairman and chairman of the various sub-committees at the meeting of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion last evening.

Chairman Long, reported that the various committees, especially the Visitation Committee, was meeting with fine reception every place they have gone to date, and that indications point to a record attendance from the outlying district.

Chairman Berry urged local Legionnaires who have tickets in their hands, to dispose of them as quickly as possible, as there is bound to be an unprecedented demand for tickets from all the surrounding towns. The ticket sale will be stopped on February 25 so that the committee will have an opportunity of checking up and finding how they stand. It is expected to sell 2,000 tickets to the event.

The program calls for a dinner in the dining room of the Cathedral, followed the main program in the auditorium. Dancing will later be held in the main ball room and dining room.

Major Guy J. Wadlinger, chairman of the membership committee, reported that the committee was still hard at work, but that the interest at the present time seemed to have been sidetracked to some extent by the preparations for the coming Commander's banquet. An effort will be made during the next few weeks to increase the membership to a point beyond last year's record, so that a good report can be handed National Commander Bodenhamer and State Commander Pinola, when they come here for the big meeting in March.

Acceptances were received by State Commander Frank Pinola, Deputy Commander John J. Deller of Wilmerding, and others who will be here for the National Commander's banquet.

Ivor V. Davis, chairman of the house committee of the Legion Home Association, stated that the Legion Home building is to be given a thorough overhauling for the coming State G. A. R. encampment here. The home is badly in need of repairs, and all organizations have voted to pay their share toward this work. Approval of the proposition was given by the Legion.

A number of other matters of importance were discussed at length, and in conclusion, a buffet lunch was served by the entertainment committee.

A communication was received from one of the railroad companies, relative to rates to the National Convention in Boston next fall, and a transportation committee consisting of Major Guy Wadlinger, Nick Speed, and Messrs McCann and Colwin, was appointed to look into the matter. It is possible that a special car to the convention will be chartered as was done last fall.

One of the firemen, blown from the deck of the liner by the force of one of four convulsive explosions was reported missing. He was John Harvey, pilot of the Fireboat Thomas Willard.

Five other firemen were injured while battling the blaze in the midst of a volcano of thick smoke which poured forth from the interior of the blazing liner.

Stewardess Injured Josephine Gehrike, stewardess was blown from her feet by the force of the fourth explosion and suffered cuts and bruises.

Man Who Aided Lincoln In Campaign For Presidency Still Plays Violin

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 12.—Strains of a violin, mellow with age and played by fingers which 86 years have not robbed of their skill, today brought back to Charles C. Stevenson memories of the stirring days when he campaigned for Abraham Lincoln.

Stevenson recalled, on the anniversary of the famous American's birth, that he played "Columbia, The Gem Of The Ocean," at one of the Lincoln-Douglas debates before the Illinois lawyer went to the White House. He played the same tune—just for old time's sake—in his study today.

During the years before the Civil War Stevenson organized a quartet which became celebrated for its music all over Illinois. At Danville, when Lincoln and Douglas debated, Stevenson topped off the occasion with "Columbia, The Gem Of The Ocean" and "The Red, White And Blue." After the Civil War came the tragedy of the President's assassination. When Lincoln was buried at Springfield, it was Stevenson's quartet that sang at the funeral. The songs were, "Let Me Go, The Light Is Breaking," "Safe With The Master," "Remember," and "No Graves Are There." Stevenson did not have his violin at the grave but gave the pitch for the songs with a tuning fork.

Wise Mother

Here are Edward and Raymond, husky young sons of Mrs. K. B. Garman, 5438 Irving St., Philadelphia. Their mother's experience shows what can be done to keep children robust. She says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. It always helps my boys. I give it for upsets or colds."

When your child's breath is bad-tongue is coated, or he is headachy, bilious, feverish, without appetite or energy, give him a little California Fig Syrup. See how its gentle cleansing helps a child. Appetite, digestion and assimilation improve. Stomach and bowels are toned and strengthened. The genuine always bears the word California. So look for that when buying. Seven million bottles used a year proves its merit!

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—In presenting his credentials to President Von Hindenburg today, United States Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett declared his primary aim while in Germany was the promotion of increased friendly intercourse and understanding between Germany and the United States.

He pledged himself to increase and fortify the now-existent harmonious relations between the two countries in every possible way.

"The similarity of the aims and ideals of the two Republics of the United States and Germany which has already afforded a fruitful scope of cooperation in the field of international conciliation," he said, "is a source of great satisfaction to my government and the American people and will continue to be an inspiration to my mission."

Ambassador Sackett lauded President Von Hindenburg as "typifying the high patriotism which is the very embodiment of German character."

He expressed high admiration for the great achievements of the German people in the laborious task of post-war reconstruction and confidence in their future success.

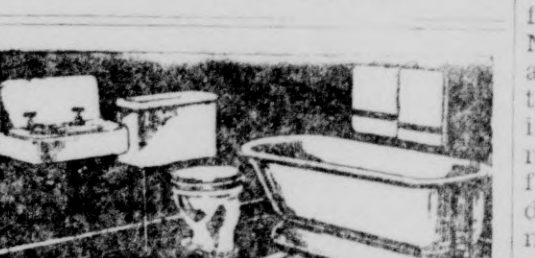

In replying to the American ambassador, President Von Hindenburg promised his whole-hearted support to Mr. Sackett's mission.

"Germany sincerely appreciates the efforts of the United States toward the pacification of the world," said the aged president.

What Your Community Chest Is Doing

The old adage, "cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days," is true in the experience of the participants of the Community Chest.

Ensign and Mrs. V. Thomsen, who have recently come to New Castle as heads of this organization here, tell an interesting experience in their work here.

The Salvation Army primarily cares for the man who is down and out. No one is too miserable to be turned away from their door, yet in addition to all this they carry on relief work in a varying scale. Clothing is furnished by them, hungry families are fed, shelter is provided, and in addition they provide for the spiritual needs of many.

This particular event in question deals with an occurrence which happened at one of their recent street meetings. There was one of those extremely cold evenings when few people were out on the streets, but the valiant little band of workers was at its accustomed place sending out its message to those who would stop and listen.

One of those who came along and who did stop and listen was a stranger, not so well dressed. His appearances concealed the fact that he had once seen better days. He stayed to hear the end of the message, and after the service came to Ensign Thomsen and told him a sad story. A story of a more prosperous period in his life, when he had held a good paying position; when his family loved and respected him.

Now he was almost down and out, separated from his family, his home and his friends. He was nothing but a vagrant, a "lost boy" wandering aimlessly about; an outcast, lonesome and broke; sleeping in barns, boxcars, any place to get out of the winter storms.

He was taken to the hall and was given something to eat. Later he returned to the hall where a religious meeting was in progress. It was the first religious service he attended in many a day. At the close of the service, he stated that he was tired of the way he had been living and solicited the aid of the Ensign in helping him to find his wife and family and become reunited with them again.

He was given a night's lodging and the next day was sent to the Social Service Center at Youngstown, where he was put to work with the men at the home. He was happy because it was the first work he had done in four years.

In the meantime, the superintendent of the home began correspondence with his relatives. At first they were adamant in their refusal to take him back. The man did not give up, however. He continued to apply himself and it was soon recognized that he did have ability. After several months, he secured a position with a business firm. Then he was permitted to see his daughter and a reconciliation with the family followed.

Today, the family is together and happy, because of the efforts put forth by the Salvation Army in his behalf. He enjoys the respect of his associates and is highly regarded by the citizens of his community. This is but one of the phases of the work the Salvation Army is doing here. ### Chicago Officers Continue Rounding Up Of Gangsters

Estimate That 2,191 Arrests
Have Been Made In Chicago In Three Days.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Chicago's smashing war on crime continued today with the arrest of 564 more men believed to be hoodlums or gunmen, making a total of 2,191 arrests in the last three days.

Thirty-three were found to be carrying guns and 19 of these men have been indicted.

Dissatisfied with the present laws and punishments meted out to gun-toters, the Chicago Association of Commerce today announced it would appeal to Governor Louis L. Emmerson and law makers to change the criminal code so that more drastic punishment could be administered to hoodlums found with concealed weapons.

In the meantime police heads announced their relentless drive has begun to rid the city of undesirables and that a wholesale exodus of the criminal element was under way.

Coyne's Counsel Seeks New Trial

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—Counsel for Patrick Coyne, convicted here in federal court on charges of violating the national liquor laws will seek a new trial for their client, they said today.

Coyne, a brother of State Senator James J. Coyne, was found guilty by a federal jury after deliberating four hours.

Coyne's offense, the government charged, was in selling and possessing liquor and maintaining a common nuisance at Second avenue, Pittsburgh. Defense claimed that Coyne sold the building to Michael Huggins before the date of the alleged violations and produced a bill of sale in evidence.

MAYOR TO NAME OFFICER SOON

Although Mayor William H. Gillespie has not indicated when he will ask council to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Policeman Ray Thompson it is believed an appointment will be made before spring so that the department will not be handicapped when traffic increases. There are several persons eligible for appointment to the department.

Sees Danger In Allowing Crowd In Court Room

Some doubt as to the ability of the court room floor to hold any unusual crowd of people was expressed today by William M. Nunn who brought out this fact in connection with the coming trial of Irene Schroeder.

"During the trial of Verne Rhyal, the floor of court room number one sagged," said Mr. Nunn "and it was necessary to shore up the end of the building in which the court room is located."

It is expected that many people will endeavor to get into the court room for the trial of the Benwood Blonde but it is also expected that restrictions will be placed upon the number allowed in, by the court.

Two Doomed Slayers Granted Respite

Repaving Plans Sent To Capital

Plans and specifications for the repaving of Butler avenue, Grant street and Croton avenue today were forwarded to the department of highways, Harrisburg. Upon their approval they will be returned to the city and passed upon by council.

The state is furnishing $75,000 for the repaving of the "links" in the city which connect state highways.

The city will let the contracts, pay the cost and the state will then reimburse the city up to the amount of $75,000.

City officials hope to get an early start on the projects.

boy, sheriff and federal officer, has admitted, according to police, to the slaying of Mrs. Gladys Ehardt, 20, whose hacked body was found buried in a shallow grave near where the two had gone on a skiing expedition. "I shows Mrs. Ehardt, who was separated from her husband, in white dress,

Hospital Patients Are Endangered By Blaze In Laundry

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Lives of hundreds of patients were endangered here today when fire broke out in the laundry building of Michael Reese hospital, one of the largest in the city.

When firemen first arrived flames were shooting 100 feet into the air and dense clouds of smoke filtered through the hospital building. Two special alarms brought additional firemen and apparatus which sprayed the burning building to prevent the flames spreading to the nurses' home and the hospital, separated from the laundry by a narrow alleyway.

Nurses and internes moved patients to the side of the building away from the fire. The cause of the blaze, which totally destroyed the laundry, a two-story structure, is unknown.

Banned Rector's Wife

THREE CARS FIGURE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Three automobiles figured in an automobile accident at Kurtz Place on East Washington street, according to the report made by officer William McConahy at the central police station.

The cars figuring in the accident were those of Rev. H. G. Woodrow, New Wilmington road, who was enroute east on Washington street.

also enroute east on Washington street and that of Pete Cerniani, 823

the New Castle Free Public Library, will submit the report of the library for the year of 1929, for publication

January 1930 was read at the library board meeting, Tuesday evening.

TWO CONTAGIOUS CASES

Two cases of measles today were reported to the department of city health. The patients are: Clara Stockman, 829 East Washington St.; and William Madden, 6, 710 Nesha-nock boulevard.

A string of Christmas tree lights can be turned into an attractive and unique party decoration. One way is to build up a flower around each of the bulbs, using ordinary crepe paper.
Or artificial flowers may be bought and a bulb inserted in each. Another way is to paint a tiny face in water colors on each of the bulbs and make paper figures to go with these faces.
The cords which go with the bulbs may be concealed by natural green leaves or something of the sort.

Tampers With Car Of Local Teacher

Officer Clarence Campbell found George Wilkinson tampering with the Ford car of a Miss Black, a teacher in the Mahoning school, at Wabash avenue and North Liberty street Tuesday afternoon.

Wilkinson was very much under the influence of liquor and after talking him from the car Officer Campbell sent him in to the city jail.

The officer did not see him driving the car, nor could any witnesses be found who had seen him driving it, and so this morning he faced a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct when he appeared before Mayor W. H. Gillespie. He was assessed a fine of $25, and not having the money, was remanded to the county jail for a period of 25 days.
The car had been left parked on Madison avenue near Cedar street by the owner. Wilkinson claimed to have been in the car with the man who places it in a garage each day for the owner. He denied operating the car.

Woman Who Inspired Lincoln's Whiskers Pays Tribute Today

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 12.—The little girl of 76 years ago who gave Abraham Lincoln the idea for the beard he wore after entering the race for president was enroute from her Kansas home Tuesday to Springfield, Ill., to pay tribute to the martyred president on his birthday today.

She is Mrs. Grace Billings of Delvosh, Kan. She is 81 years old. "I really believe I caused Mr. Lincoln to grow a beard," Mrs. Billings said during a visit here between trains. Mrs. Billings was an 11 year old girl in Westfield, N. Y., when she saw poster portraits of the smooth-faced Republican nominee for president. That was in October, 1860. She went home and scrawled a letter to "Hon. Abraham Lincoln, Esq., Springfield, Ill."

It read: "Dear Mr. Lincoln: I think you would look better with whiskers. Two of my brothers are Republicans, two are Democrats. I think I could get my Democratic brothers to vote for you if you wore a beard. The real reason around your picture in the paper is very pretty. Have you any little girls?"

Adopted Whiskers
In a few days, the little girl received the following reply:

"My dear little Grace: Your very agreeable letter of the 15th received. I regret to say I have no little girl. I have three sons, one 17 years old, one 9 and one 7. Speaking of whiskers, don't you think people would call it a silly affectation if I should begin wearing whiskers?"

KIDNEY TROUBLE ALARMS THIS MAN

Says Results With World's Tonic Were Most Astonishing

"My back hurt me so from kidney trouble that I was afraid to move when I woke up in the morning, and often I would awake at night with an ache that made me feel that every muscle in the small of my back was set in a cramp," said Joe Linea of New Castle, Pa., in a letter to the World's Tonic man. "To add to my grief I was badly constipated, and soon the inactivity of my kidneys and the constipation affected my heart and stomach. I could hardly breathe after eating, and I suffered the agony of indigestion when I went to bed and the pain in my back when I was awake. Both got so bad that I was greatly alarmed. I took treatment for my kidneys and used strong cathartics to relieve the constipation. These were sometimes of temporary benefit, but as soon as I stopped their use the pains came back. Things went on this way for weeks, until I doubted if I ever would be well again."

"One nasty, rainy night I was just about to go to the drug store for a dose of physic when one of my neighbors handed me a part of a bottle of World's Tonic, in order to save me from going out. I took three doses and my bowels moved more normally than they had in months. So I began to take it regularly for the constipation. To my great surprise and satisfaction, it did as much for my kidneys as it did for my bowels, and inside of two weeks I had no pain and my bowels moved regularly twice a day. The results were most astonishing. I did not suffer from my kidneys and I felt better in every way. I could not believe the effects would be permanent, but it is now several months since I have suffered, and with an occasional dose as I feel the need of it I am as well as any man has a right to be."

"I do not hesitate to recommend World's Tonic for the general toning up of kidneys and bowels, and firmly believe it is the best possible aid to anyone who suffered as I did."

World's Tonic is sold by Eckerd's, Koe's, Paisley's, Smith's and all other first class drug stores. (A-35)

Muskegon Slayer Enters Plea Of Guilt To Court

Man Who Murdered Girl Who Spurned His Love Is Not Filled With Remorse

(International News Service)
MUSKEGON, Feb. 12.—Forest E. Weaver pleaded guilty to the brutal slaying of his sweetheart, Mrs. Gladys Erhardt, when he was arraigned Tuesday before Judge John Vanderwert in circuit court.

Judge Vanderwert began hearing testimony of several witnesses to determine what degree of murder is fitting for the crime. He accepted the guilty plea.

Mrs. Myrtle Van Dorn, mother of the murdered girl, testified briefly from the stand. She said that Weaver, known as an eccentric and "odd" character, had kept company with her daughter for three weeks.

Sheriff William Tissue related how he and Weaver's father had located the shallow grave in which Mrs. Erhardt's body had been buried Friday afternoon after it had been dismembered. He also told of how the prisoner, apparently without remorse, had related how he killed his sweetheart when she declared her intention of going with another man.

More Schools Will Join Merger Plan

HARRISBURG, Feb. 12.—John G. Ziegler, chief of school sanitation in the Health Department, said today that more than a half million dollars will be spent during the coming season for construction work in the rural school districts. At least ten consolidation school projects will be involved as well as an equal number of extensions and additions to present buildings.

"Not only the larger municipalities," said Ziegler, "but the county districts seem to be alive to the necessity of providing adequate housing facilities for school children. Personnel from the school division are constantly inspecting buildings and are having no difficulty in persuading school district officials of the advantages of modern and sanitary construction where it is lacking at the present time."

GRADE CROSSING CRASHES NUMEROUS

Racketeering Menace Can Be Licked Says Former Mayor Hylan

"If Officials Administer Law
Without Fear Or Favor Racketeering Would Die Out"

Former Mayor Of New York City Grants Interview
While At Home In Florida

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
(Copyright 1930 by International News Service)

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 12.—Racketeering, which has reared its menacing head in leading American cities, can be stamped out, according to John F. Hylan, former Mayor of New York City, "if governing officials in all branches perform their full duty and administer the law without fear or favor."

Judge Hylan made this assertion in an exclusive interview today.

He discussed racketeering and its ramifications with authority, for he was not only mayor of the largest metropolis in the country for eight years but he was a city magistrate for a similar period and a county judge for four years.

Must Cooperate
"If the police have the cooperation of the judges and the administrators of the criminal law in any state or city, racketeering cannot exist," said Judge Hylan.

"Racketeering is comparatively new in America. It has its roots in politics and it has been given impetus by prohibition which has bred a disregard for law in certain quarters. "When racketeering flourishes in any city it is a sure sign that the police commissioner, or head of the police department, is more in sympathy with the underworld interests than with those who want the city run decently."

The trouble with police departments in many of our big cities is that men are placed in charge who are no more fitted to administer that department because of their inexperience than a bootblack is fitted to run a barber shop."

Racketeers Protected
Judge Hylan said he has seen racketeering grow from a small sinister business to its present powerful proportions. He took a shot at judges who fail to do their duty in dealing with racketeers and their ilk when they are brought before the bar of justice. He scored the machination of politics that shield and protect the racketeer.

"Too many public officials, including judges, become submissive to a higher power—an invisible government," Judge Hylan declared. "I must explain this 'invisible government.' The fact is that today the same financial group runs both political parties in almost every state and city. By virtue of this situation the political boss becomes arbitrary and dictatorial."

Swayed by Clique
"Public officials, unfortunately, become most submissive to this power. They are subservient to the political boss and his clique. In some instances judges, in building up their own personal political following, become associated with the gunmen and racketeers themselves."

Judge Hylan declared one of the major problems of nearly every city in the country is to obtain high caliber and fearless men to hold public office. "There is a lack of men with individuality and ability who, at the same time are independent and free of obligations to any group of men—political or otherwise," said former Mayor for a smart new season—

—Spring, 1930, is re-creating the entire fashion world in the image of romantic elegance. She whimsically skips through the centuries for inspiration... choosing, here and there, a classical high waist... a fluent, moyen age scarf... a Napoleonic shoulder cape... an 1830 puff sleeve... or a Cossack neckline. And now that many of her loveliest style conceptions are on view in Strouss-Hirshberg's new apparel, we invite you to come tomorrow to see "what's what" in the new mode. A visit will be a delight and a revelation!

Coats—irresistibly youthful!

—Flaring skirts make a number of these coats quite dramatic, and at the same time easy to wear. They slenderize mature figures, and bring out the natural grace of youthful curves. Even those coats of straighter line have nipped-in waists. Galyak fur is used with excellent effect on many smooth-finished woollens... while the colorful new tweeds appropriate youthful scarf effects and various tail furs, for individuality. At $15.00 to $79.50.

Frocks—quite modern in charm

—Which means that they're essentially youthful, with interest centered upon sleeves and bodices as not before in years. (They simply have to have their bows and feminine necklines to match the gentle fullness of their skirts!) While many are deliberately frivolous... in chiffon or georgette... others of fine crepes and prints consider what the woman of 1930 needs for travel, shopping and business. At $10.00 to $25.00.

Suits—a major spring fashion

—There's chance here to be elaborate or business-like in your choice of a suit... yet in either case be smart! The "mood" of the costume depends largely upon the blouse. Some of ours have blouses with draped necklines or revers to add formality, and femininity. Various new woollens are used in the tailoring of the suits themselves... and flares are more often than not seen in their graceful skirts. At $25.00 to $79.50.

New colors in sportswear

—Basque shades in the sweaters (at $2.95)... oranges, greens, bright blues and rose that might have come right out of the spectrum! And beautiful pattern contrasts in the knitted suits (which come with flaring skirt and tuckin sweater or blouse at $16.50 and $25.00.) There are sporty tweed skirts, ($5.95) that flare gently, and in their patterns mingle soft browns, blues, greens, and other tones.

Accessories—in the new manner

—HEMATITE JEWELRY is smart and distinctive, even when it's simulated, as are these smart necklaces, bracelets and brooches... at $1.00 and $1.75.

—GLOVES for spring show a disposition to be longer... even for daytime wear. Here are new "petal" gloves in 8-button lengths... as well as slip-ons in smart 4-button length. $4.95 to $6.95.

—HAND-BAGS in silk crepes that match Basque-toned accessories... or in plain or hand-boarded calfskin, subdued in tone... at $2.95 to $4.95.

—KAYSER HOSIERY is showing such new (lighter) shades as Juno, Vesta, Aurora and Diane for spring... in service weight, with pointed heels, or in chiffon with French or pointed heels. $1.95 pair.

New hats—

—Shallow crowns and brims narrow-in-front give a 1930 reflection to many of these hats. Equally smart are the close-to-the-head, turban effects. Bakou, Bangkok—sleek or linen-like straws have the preference. $5.00 to $12.50.

IT COSTS LESS TO OWN A GENERAL ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

A General Electric Refrigerator costs comparatively little to buy in the first place. And it costs surprisingly little to operate... only a few pennies a day. It uses less current than any other refrigerator because all of its mechanism is on top.

Another thing you'll like about it is that it soon pays for itself through savings in ice bills, and in foods ordinarily wasted.

In over three years, not one of the hundreds of thousands of owners has paid a single cent for service. The first cost has been their last cost.

Our conveniently spaced terms make it easy for you to own a General Electric Refrigerator. Come in and let us demonstrate its many superior advantages.

Brown Has Eye On Governorship

Former State Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown Has Gubernatorial Ambitions

TWO COMPLETE TICKETS OUTLOOK

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—The tangled state Republican situation was further embroiled today by the assertion of former State Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown that he too will be a candidate at the spring primary for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Brown's admission makes two candidates already in the field as Samuel L. Lewis, former auditor general, announced his intention yesterday at Harrisburg of entering the field for the governorship.

"At the proper time my nominating petitions will be put into circulation," Brown said, as he asked his interviewers: "It doesn't look, does it, like there would be any question about me being a candidate for governor?"

Two Complete Tickets. With the entry of Brown into the gubernatorial race, political observers here expressed the belief that two complete tickets will vie for the Republican nominations at the May primary.

Senator Joseph R. Grundy already is in the field for nomination for the senatorial post. Lewis, long a close friend of the Bristol manufacturer, is looked upon as his candidate for the governorship.

Since Brown has long worked hand-in-hand with William S. Vare, Philadelphia G. O. P. leader, he is looked upon as Vare's candidate and is known to have the support of the various Philadelphia ward leaders. Vare some time ago announced himself as a candidate for the senatorial toga denied him by the senate.

Willing Helper's Happy Week Continues Services Until Friday Evening

The interest and enthusiasm at the Willing Helper Happy Week, being observed at the Hoover Heights Tabernacle is growing. The Tabernacle was filled last evening. Rev. Lindsey, a former pastor who is preaching had just finished a series of meetings in the North Butler church and there was a delegation present from there with their pastor, Rev. M. J. Boyd, a local man. Rev. E. C. Anderson, who will preach Thursday evening, was also present and led in prayer. There was also a delegation from his church. Rev. and Mrs. M. J. Scripture sang, "Just A Little While."

During these meetings money for the mortgage on the church parsonage is being raised. There is a nice response to this need each evening. Rev. Lindsey gave an encouraging sermon. He spoke on "God's Great Workmanship." His text was taken from Acts 15:18, "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world."

This evening Rev. Lindsey will bring his last message. Previous arrangements makes it impossible for him to remain longer. The services will continue till Friday evening.

Start Serving Of Liquor Warrants

Start Serving Warrants On 156 Persons Named In Gigantic Booze
Ring

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Deputy United States marshals and assistant United States district attorneys departed to all parts of the country Friday to serve warrants upon the 151 men and five women, named with many indictments returned by the federal grand jury charging violation of the prohibition law.

At the same time rumors were current in the federal building here that Prohibition Commissioner Doran, expected here last night, planned a drastic shakeup in the Chicago prohibition force with the probable ouster of Director E. C. Yellowley.

Stupendous Ring
The sweeping grand jury action unmasked the existence of a stupendous liquor ring operating in all parts of the United States with headquarters here. For years this ring has been diverting industrial alcohol into bootlegging channels. It is believed the indictments were merely the opening gun of federal prosecutors. It was regarded as significant that the first indictment named not a single prohibition official or agent and not one of the gangsters recognized in wholesale liquor distributing circles.

Doran, asked in Milwaukee if Yellowley would be removed, refused to comment and when then asked if this meant Yellowley would not be ousted he said emphatically: "It does not." He was to confer with his subordinate tonight.

At the close of the scheduled program answers to those questions deposited in the chapter question box by the parents at the opening of the meeting were answered to the point by Principal R. G. Leslie.

A candy sale was conducted in conjunction with last night's meeting.

Brains, Health And Beauty Needed By Artist's Models

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Feb. 12.—Beautiful but dumb females never make good artist's models, according to Estelle Kettner, Boston University sophomore and blue-eyed blonde model of a Back Bay artist.

Brains, health and beauty must be combined in the girl if she is to successfully pose for illustrative sketches and paintings.

Although always an enviable position of other girls, the model does not have such an easy time of it. It is fascinating, but far from easy, Miss Kettner says. "It is difficult because you have to hold the position accurately for a decided length of time," she explained. "To do well, you must visualize the scene you are portraying, and keep your mind on it continuously."

"Brain work," Miss Kettner insisted, with the emphatic nodding of her "windblown" bob, "is demanded of the artist's model. A sense of the dramatic is necessary. A good background of literature and history and a knowledge of perspective by which she is able to project her imagination into the desired effect, always makes a model much more valuable to the artist."

As a helpful hint to those individuals attempting to acquire physical beauty, Miss Kettner advises that a physically healthy body must be kept uppermost in the mind. Go out for sports and eat plenty of fruit.

Miss Kettner entertains the ambition of becoming a writer. She figures that in her modelling she is not only preparing for her life's work but as an artist's model she is getting first rate information that will be of use to her later on.

The blonde sophomore declares that she does not want to continue modelling for a life work. "I would rather earn my livelihood by means of mental ability rather than with physical graces."

Warns Inspectors To Make Reports

HARRISBURG, Feb. 12.—John G. Ziegler, chief of school sanitation, of the State Health Department announced today that orders have been forwarded to the fourth class medical inspectors who have not as yet filed their reports to have them returned to his office not later than February 28. After that date such reports will not be accepted.

"In many of the counties medical inspectors had completed their work prior to the first of the year," Ziegler said. "However, a number of these representatives have as yet failed to comply with the regulations. It is assumed that the condition of the roads and the severity of the weather in the localities involved have had much to do with the failure to report."

PULASKI

PARTY AT PULASKI
Mrs. Ayers and Mrs. Wilson Gave a party Wednesday night. The ladies came at 8 o'clock. All looking gay and bright.

The tables set for twenty guests. Were lovely to behold. How good they looked to hungry folks. Can never be half told.

The sausage cakes were nice and brown. The pan cakes were a dream. With lots of syrup on them. And the coffee had real cream.

With plenty of good things to eat. With laughter, noise and song. I'm sure no one could blame us. If our appetites were long.

When the supper was all over. And the tables cleared away. We had a splendid social time. With games that all might play.

I know no crowd of children. Ever more enjoyed their games. Than did those erstwhile dignified. Those staid and sober dames.

For carping cares were laid aside. No fears harassed the mind. All who entered there had left Their troubles all behind.

And Father Time rolled back the years. And opened the closed door That we might for a time return To happy days of yore.

Those there besides the hostesses Were Mrs. H. L. Womer. Mrs. Silas Sturedvant, Mrs. Hesadings and Jane Tomer.

Mrs. Hoskins, Mrs. Wallace, And Mrs. Graham too. Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Taylor And Mrs. Nora McCue.

Mrs. Funk and Mrs. Etzrott, Jessie Gibson, Mrs. Stowe. Lois Kerr, the Mrs. Shillings. There were two of them you know.

Then Mrs. Walter Mitchellree, Mrs. Ague, too, you see. Her baby and the Shilling boy. And Mrs. Lloyd Mitchellree.

When the clock hands neared the midnight hour. We realized time's flight. And full of sweet memories and pan cakes. We bade everybody Good-Night.

Crowd Roars At Slippery Rock

"Womanless Wedding" Is Presented By Men Of College Town

MANY CHARACTERS ARE IMPERSONATED

(Special To The News)
SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Feb. 12.—There have been plays in Slippery Rock before. Lots of them, farces, tragedies and burlesques, but it is doubtful, oh extremely doubtful if there ever was any stage piece that ever hit the fancy of this collegiate center any more than the "Womanless Wedding" which was presented in a gale of roars in the college chapel Tuesday evening.

There was nothing heavy about the vehicle chosen for the 80 Slippery Rock men to present their Thespian proclivities to the well known populace. Nothing of the Eugene O'Neil type if you get what is meant. Nothing of the Russian type of drama, just good old-fashioned hokum, presented as hokum and received as hokum with laughs that shook the buttons off a lot of vests and ruined more than one perfectly good complexion.

All Men In Cast.

The influence of the feminine sex was far removed from the "Womanless Wedding." Miles away in fact for every member in the cast was a male, two fisted and hairy-chested, but for the wedding, as feminine as Lydia Pinkham's well known compound.

The play was sponsored by the Woman's club and the efforts of the men were rewarded by a full house, and as appreciative as it was full this reference having nothing to do with the condition of the guests. The play will be repeated this evening and from the success of last night's presentation, the walls will bulge with customers when the final show goes on this evening. The cast of the play follows:—

Byers Recalls Early Days Of Fire Department

Duke W. Byers Is Oldest Man In Department In Point Of Service

Can Remember When Department Was Real One-Horse Affair Back In 1889

Duke W. Byers, of 16 East street, a member of the Central Department, who is the oldest man in the New Castle fire department in point of service, can recall some interesting incidents in connection with the department here.

Just plain "Duke" as he is known to half the citizens of New Castle has spent more than forty years in the service here, and half the people who will read this article were not yet born when he started in fighting fires here. Not that Duke is an old man by any means because he is still quite a youngster when he started in the service.

In company with the late Chief Frank C. Conners, he was one of the two first paid members of the New Castle department, beginning his service on September 11, 1889.

One Horse Affair
In these days, the New Castle fire department was a one-horse affair. Perhaps it would be more polite to say it was a two-horse affair, because there were two horses which pulled the equipment then in use, a hose reel and a ladder wagon. Duke drove one of the horses and Conners drove the other. A short time later, a two-horse drawn apparatus was purchased and the department began to expand.

And the wages paid in those days were most meager. Mr. Byers received the big salary of $40 per month. W. W. Cubison was fire chief and for his services, he received $20 per month; $240 per year. Of course the fire chief was not supposed to be on duty only when there was a fire. The rest of the department was entirely made up of volunteers.

Mr. Byers first big fire was in 1890, when the old Park Opera House, which stood where Haney's Furniture store is now located, was burned to the ground, along with two adjoining structures which stood between the Y. M. C. A. and Jefferson street. The opera house had once been a skating rink, and after a performance on a Saturday night the big wooden affair took fire, and what a fire it was.

Fire fighting in those days was a difficult task, because of the lack of equipment. About all the firemen could do was to keep the blaze from spreading to adjoining structures, once a good start had been gained. In this particular fire, the residence of Dr. Wallace on North Jefferson street, was saved, although it was slightly damaged. It was such a big fire that the hose reel at the old glass plant, across from the Pennsylvania station was pressed into service, but the equipment was entirely inadequate to fight the flames and it just burned itself out.

After the fire, the volunteers all celebrated with fire water. Mr. Byers recalls, that being the proper way to celebrate a big conflagration in those days. The present alarm system was installed about 1891, it is recalled by Mr. Byers, who assisted in putting in many of the early boxes. There were 12 boxes in all installed, but the numbers did not run from 1 to 12 consecutively. The East Side district was the best protected of any, as far as fire boxes went. The late S. Plummer Emery was president of one of the branches of council, so a box was installed near his residence at the corner of Oak and Spruce streets. This box, No. 34, is still in use. Another was located at the corner of Allen street, and East Washington, where the late Mr. Gardner, president of the other branch of council resided. This was only about a stone's throw away.

In the olden days, the fire bell at Central station, which was located on East street, and abandoned several years ago, had to be rung by hand when a fire occurred. Then someone conceived the idea of rigging up a water motor to tap out the strokes, which was done.

Whenever there was a fire, the boys would turn on the water motor and leave it run and the bell would continue to ring until they returned. The late Dr. Pollock, who lived across the street would come over and shut off the water to stop the noise.

One day, in order to play a joke on him, the handle was removed from the stop cock, and Dr. Pollock was unable to shut it off. Every time there was a fire after that, he left the water run and the fire bell kept on ringing.

Mr. Byers says the local department grew from two horses and two men, to 16 horses and about twenty men, before it was motorized. The old Knox truck, purchased about eighteen years ago, was the first piece of motor apparatus put in use here, and singularly, it is still in use at Central station, although the company which made it has long since gone out of business, and whenever it breaks down, it is necessary to have replacements manufactured.

The department has been completely motorized for more than ten years, the equipment including ten motor vehicles and 40 men. There are seven hose companies, two hook and ladders, and the chief's car.

Capt. Alex Hartman, another member of the Central Department stands next to Byers in point of service, and really started fire fighting before Byers did. He began his service with the New Castle department in 1887, but after serving for two years, quit the department for a period of ten years, when he engaged in the livery business.

Chief Charles H. Lynn, is also another veteran with almost thirty years of service to his credit. Chief Lynn entered the employment of the city as a fireman on May 27, 1902 and has arisen from the ranks to his present position.

Like Byers, both Chief Lynn and Hartman, can also recall many interesting incidents in the growth of the department here.

With his 40 years behind him, Mr. Byers has had a wide variety of experience, and is looking forward to completing another decade in service before he feels like retiring.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

It really did seem as though we had every sort of protective organization that one could think of. Associations, brotherhoods, organizations, societies, all of them banded together for bigger and better somethings or other, with nicely worded slogans and good looking stationery.

The end is not yet it seems for today I get an invitation to join the Wild Turkey Conservation Association, the object being to protect wild gobblers. The literature is not very detailed, the only thing being stressed being the protection of the wild Thanksgiving dinners.

Undoubtedly the organization is all right, for among the officers named I see that of Paul Cauffiel, of Johnstown, Pa. The thing I would like to know is this, "who is picking on the wild turkeys?" For all we know out here, where it is the customer and not the turkey that gets wild, the wild turkeys are in as good shape as the wild waves, or in the wild women.

Charley Withers may know something about the condition of the wild turkey roaming the hills of Pennsylvania alone for Charley knows all the wild trout in Lawrence County by name. Or perhaps George Brown, or Joe Williams could enlighten me as to why the turkeys get wild, and after they are wild, why they need protection. It costs a dollar to find out and after you find out, you're a member.

At the present time my memberships include such ones as the Sportsmen's Association, the Coon Hunters Association, the Yellow Dogs, the Kansas City Nighthawks, and several others. Comes now the Wild Turkey advocates, and Jack Sines certainly should be interested.

Must be somebody in Sharon who used to live in New Castle, and takes The New Castle News to keep in touch with the home folks and all that sort of thing. Get a long letter today, written in a good hand, with two booklets enclosed, one on Miami and one on Havana.

This chap must have lived on the South Side once, for he goes on to say that he wanted to pick one of the hibiscus and got into an argument with somebody or other. The letter sounds like a monograph prepared by the Miami Chamber of Commerce, but is explained by the fact that the boy has just come off his honeymoon.

Still another letter contains an invitation to the Winning Helpers Happy Week at the tabernacle up on Hoover Heights, which is on this week.

ELECTRIC POWER USE ON INCREASE

Reflects Increased Industrial Activity Says Report Of Government

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 12. — An increase in industrial activity in Pennsylvania during December would seem to be indicated by a corresponding increase in the production of electric power by public-utility power plants in the state during the month, according to the geological survey of the department of the interior.

Public-utility power plants in Pennsylvania produced 734,633,000 kilowatt-hours of electric power during December as compared with 712,485,000 kilowatts produced during the previous month. Of the total production during December, 648,370,000 kilowatts were produced by fuels and 86,263,000 kilowatts by water power, the survey reveals.

During the month, Pennsylvania's public-utility power plants consumed 5,122,000 cubic feet of natural gas, 516,572 short tons of coal, and 1,112 barrels of fuel oil in the production of electricity.

Presbyterial Meets In Executive Session

Plan For Both Vocal And Instrumental Numbers; Pastor To Speak

The executive meeting of the Shenango Presbyterian was held in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday and the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Porter, who used as her theme "Pentecost." At the business meeting an acceptance of John Craig as presbyterial missionary at Granada, Arizona, was read and a secretary of associate members was elected. Plans were discussed for joining in the annual world day of prayer for missions to be held March 7 in the First Presbyterian church.

Reports were heard from the various branches of the work and were given by Mrs. O. H. Rhodes, Mrs. W. C. Ferver, Mrs. W. B. Scott, Mrs. J. B. Cutler and Mrs. F. R. Woods. # HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

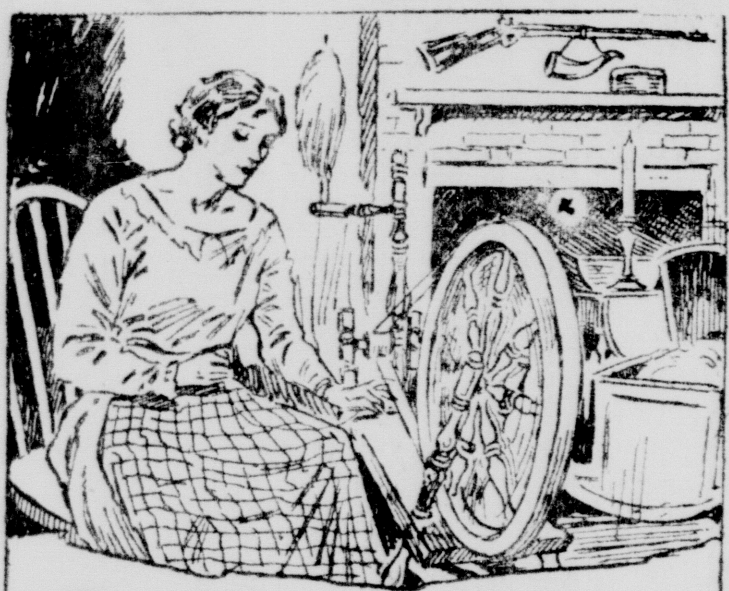

The Story Of American Industry
America In The "Homestead Age"—Part 3

IN AMERICAN COLONIAL DAYS THE CLOTHING WORN BY ALL BUT PERSONS OF WEALTH WAS MADE AT HOME. WOOL AND FLAX (AND COTTON IN THE SOUTHERN COLONIES), THE CHIEF MATERIALS OF WHICH GARMENTS WERE MADE, WERE PRODUCED RIGHT ON THE FARM, AND THE MAKING OF TEXTILES WAS AN ACCOMPLISHMENT EVERY COLONIAL GIRL WAS REQUIRED TO LEARN.

IN THE CASE OF FLAX (FROM WHICH LINEN IS MADE), THE OUTSIDE STALK WAS ALLOWED TO ROT IN A DAMP CELLAR BEFORE THE INSIDE FIBER WAS REMOVED. WOOL FIRST HAD TO BE WASHED WITH SOAP AND WATER, BOTH FLAX AND WOOL THEN HAD TO BE COMBED AND "CARDED" TO LAY THE TANGLED HAIRS OR FIBERS STRAIGHT.

THE COMBED MATERIAL, WHETHER FLAX OR WOOL, THEN WENT TO THE SPINNING WHEEL (A WHEEL, OPERATED BY A TREADLE, AND MOUNTED ON A THREE-LEGGED FRAME), WHERE IT WAS SPUN INTO YARN AND REELED ON TO SPOOLS. THE YARN WAS NOW READY FOR WEAVING OR KNITTING.

THE YARN WAS WOVEN INTO CLOTH ON THE GREAT LOOM WHICH WAS TO BE FOUND IN EVERY WELL-EQUIPPED COLONIAL HOME. KNITTING WAS DONE WITH BONE NEEDLES BY HAND, OR ON A KNITTING FRAME. FREQUENTLY THE YARN WAS DYED BEFORE IT WAS MADE INTO CLOTH.

TOMORROW—CONTINUED.

Titans Have Close Call As Methodists Stage Healthy Rally

Westminster Takes District Game At New Wilington By Two-Point Margin

Crowell and Dennison Divide Scoring Honors In Fast Game On Tuesday Night

By "BUGS" WALTHER

The snapping, snarling Alligators of Allegheny College almost severed a Westminster winning streak last night, in a District game played at New Wilington. By the time the Titans had the pesky Gator in his cage the score was 26 to 24, and the gun boomed out the end of the hostilities. It was another basketball game that had the earmarks of a championship affair. Whoever said the Allegheny team couldn't play basketball should take another puff on the illusion pipe.

Close Call For Titans Westminster was out in front at the end of the game by a slim two-point margin and had the game gone much longer the Westminster might have been left with the bag as empty as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. However, that ten-point lead gained them in the first half, stood them in good stead. Allegheny came through with a rally that had their few supporters who had followed them from Meadville pleading with the boys to hurry up and get the lead, but the lead was Westminster's from the very start of the game.

This Allegheny team is good, don't think for one minute that the Westminster had an easy evening. It was all Westminster in the first half, and it was just the opposite in the final stanza.

Allegheny Rallyes The first half ended 17 to 7 in favor of the Titans. The final half found the Alligators scoring 17 to 9. The Allegheny team finished the strongest of the two, in fact they sank a bucket just as the gun roared, and it counted. Crowell had tossed it in the air and it fell through the net and the referee said it counted, he was quite right, it did count.

William "Red" Crowell, the big boy from Farrell was in the game again last night up to his ears. In the first half it was Crowell who led the Titans, and he was ably assisted by Ken Delehanty and Phil Rice, with two baskets apiece. Harry Dennison and Conn scored the only field goals for the Allegheny team in the first half. Allegheny made one out of nine fouls, while the Westminster boys had one out of two. It was a very close game, a real credit to both teams. Allegheny missed an awful lot of shots in the first half the ball seemed to be going in all right, but something happened that it didn't, whereas the Titans were having much better success in ruffling the rope.

Subs Get Chance Westminster had a lead of 9 to 0 early in the first half, and later on had the score up to 13 to 2, then the Bakermans found their bearings and from this time on it was a battle. Two subs found their way into the game in the first half, for Delehanty and Brown for Conn.

Coach Johnny Lawther with two hard goals left on the schedule for this week wanted to save the Titans and hit upon the idea of using a few reserves. The idea was splendid, and it looked good with a ten-point lead. Allegheny didn't give anybody any heart thrills in the first half, they looked no better than second money in anybody's league, they were off color on the foul line and the field goal market was away below par.

When Westminster commenced activities at the start of the second half Hamas was still in for Delehanty and Brown, and it was center for Crowell. Allegheny coasted along with the same lineup as finished the first half, Brown being at center for Conn.

Score Doubled

Things went along smoothly for the Titans and soon they had the score doubled at 22 to 11, and the fans were ready to call it an evening. Kocher went in for Hamas, and pretty soon Dvorsnak went in for Kocher. Allegheny sensing the fact that the Titans were trying to belittle them with subs in the game, went to work and with eyes blazing and hearts of steel started to make things more interesting. Blair shot a foul and Dennison went down under the basket and plunked one through and right soon Granny Blair followed suit and the score went up to 22 to 16. Coach Lawther still had faith in his subs and sent Blamer to guard for Rice.

Dvorsnak made a free throw for the Titans and Dennison in the next few seconds caged the ball for the Alligators and the score was 23 to 18. With only six minutes left to play and the Allegheny team on a rampage, Coach Lawther sent Delehanty and Rice back to the court for Dvorsnak and Blamer. Westminster took time out and got organized.

With only five minutes left to play Delehanty who had been poison all night slipped under the floor and from the side of the court dropped one through the hoops, sending the score to 23 to 20.

Allegheny Wake Up The Allegheny boys must have been slumbering all night, for suddenly they shook themselves out of their coma and what took place in the next four minutes would make a good novel. Granny Blair went under the basket on a nice play and caged the ball giving the visitors two more points and cutting the Titans lead to 23 to 22. Blair had a chance to even up the count with a free throw, but he missed.

Walter Berger who had played a whale of a game at guard for the Allegheny went out on four personal fouls, and Conn went back in, going to center for Brown and Brown going to guard for Berger.

Rice the lad who was fouled by Berger made good his foul try and the Titans clung to a 24 to 22 lead. Fisher missed a foul by a few inches and shortly after this Dennison had a chance to deadlock the game but the try for a basket was short by about 1-2 inch and so—

Delehanty came from somewhere and took a pass, and made for the basket, the Allegheny boys were in position, just how this happened it doesn't matter, but Delehanty caged the ball after a few dribbles and the score was 26 to 22, and the time was getting weaker and weaker and so were the fans.

Garbark Tallies With about 15 seconds left to play Allegheny worked the ball down the floor and passed to Garbark the Homestead boy who had played a fine guarding game all night, he dribbled down and just as the ball was in act of going through the basket the gun boomed and the game was over. The basket counted as the ball was in the air when the time expired. It left Allegheny two-points short, and Westminster victors in another of those hair-line finishes.

It was the best played game on the New Wilington floor as far as passing was concerned. Both teams proved masters in the art of handling the leather. The Titans were deadlier shots, that tells the story very nicely. Recommended to diversion hunters, the game the two teams play at Meadville next week.

Three Games On Tap Tonight At Y. M. C. A. Floor

Three Good Battles Arranged For Y. M. C. A. Court Tonight In Basketball

Henry MacNicholas, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., came to bat today with the announcement of three good games for the local floor tonight. The first game starts at 7:30 o'clock. The feature game finds the New Castle Boosters and Company M team of Grove City the combatants.

In the first game the First Baptist team of the church league will tangle with the Lions club of Grove City. This should be a good game as both teams are supporting strong quintets. The Baptists are subbing for the Central Christians in this game, due to a death in the family of one of the Christian players.

The second game is between the Wesley M. E. church league team and the Union High Alumni. This game should be good due to the fact that two of the Wesley team members are former Union high stars, meaning the Rech brothers.

The feature game on the bill will find the New Castle Boosters battling to avenge their recent defeat at the hands of the Company M team of Grove City. The Mercer county troopers beat the Boosters in an overtime period at Grove City. Coach Fraser's lads had a tough night down in Pittsburgh last evening and they may be tired out tonight, but they intend to give the visitors a real battle. The locals are favored to win this game.

Game Here Friday Night Expected To Be Good Contest

Both teams are getting into the best of condition and are eagerly waiting for the timekeeper's whistle which will start one of the best games seen at the local court this season. In the last meeting between these two teams, one of the best games ever witnessed by Evans City fans was seen. Although the league leaders managed to win, the score was close. In fact to be exact the final count was something like 25-15. In the final minutes of play the Red and Black team came through with a rally of unexpected shots that won the game. Ever since then Evans City quintet has shown marked improvement both in practices and in games.

Scott And Sharkey Continue To Work Hard In Training

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Feb. 12.—Both Jack Sharkey of Boston and Phil Scott, the English heavyweight, were to continue hard workouts today, in preparation for their fight here February 27. Scott impressed fans yesterday with his left which is working very well. He boxed nine rounds, taking on Billy Middlekauff, Jack Renault, Dominic Patts, Jack De Mave and Bobby Vincent.

Renault imitated the tactics of Sharkey and gave Phil a good workout, extending him some in one round. Sharkey continued boxing yesterday and worked on Pierre Charles, Moise Bouquillon and Johnny Grosso. He took on the three sparring mates for only one round each but worked hard on a heavy bag in addition. Kuntze Becken, noted Notre Dame football coach, was scheduled to visit Sharkey's camp today.

Reiber, Hnat and Rodgers were the stars for the orange and black, caging 11 baskets between them. Caplan made four baskets for the Fireflies.

Crimson Quintet Beats Thiel 37-29

Technique Of The Dive

Grooming the prodigious Primo Carnera for a heavyweight title shot (and his skilled backers do not expect him to be ready for this until the Summer of 1931) has centered fan talk on the subject of what is known in ring gossip as "the dive" and "divers." The latter are the boys who "take it on the lug"—and more or less deliberately get knocked out—in order to build up a big gate attraction to such fearsome proportions that a championship bout is in order. Ring dives are of vast variety; some are subtle and difficult to detect, but you can both see and hear the splash from the common class of course tankers. Sometimes the diving is strictly unintentional, the victim really being knocked out, because he is no match for the beneficiary of the build-up.

Fresh in mind is the K. O. of Big Boy Peterson by the Carnera man mountain. The latter was imported recently from Italy via England and France with the greatest fanfare of publicity ever accorded a new comer in fistie circles. For weeks, mobs jammed the gym where Primo trained, paying fifty cents apiece to see the famous "Fiddle Feet" do his stuff.

Finally they picked Peterson to make Carnera's U. S. debut a success. And the Big Boy did his best—knocked out the Italian in the first round, landed one weak jab, was knocked down four times, and pronounced "out" in one minute, and 10 seconds of the first round. Fred Fulton, finest feller of 'em all, could hardly have excelled the finesse of that fadeout in his canvas-kissing prime. Incidentally, Peterson is managed by Fulton's former pilot!

Divers, incidentally, are classified by some as "wet" and "dry." The former go in with the intention of being knocked out; the latter have no such purpose, but they are so susceptible to K. O. punches that merely squaring off against a hard wallower is equivalent to posing on the brink of a tank. In the divers go—"wet" and "dry"—to make Roman holidays for the Carneras and the Firpos of boxing ballyhoo.

Carnera Kayoes Another Set-Up

Primo, The Big Leather Merchant Of Venice Dusts Off Tulsa, Oklahoma, Cop

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ARENA, ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 12.—Signor Primo Carnera, the Leather Merchant of Venice, today was richer by some ten thousand dollars as result of his brief appointment at the Arena here last night. Signor Carnera unlike Signor Antonio the original Merchant of Venice, did not seriously risk one of his 270 pounds of flesh.

For in disposing of his latest victim, the big Italian giant did not get hit once on his big grinning face. His opponent went down for the first and last time after forty seconds of the second round had elapsed. In ten more seconds the Leather Merchant of Venice quit work and had swelled his earnings in the American ring to more than $50,000.

It is alleged that one Buster Martin, Tulsa traffic cop was Carnera's opponent, but this could not be verified at a late hour today. No one paid much attention to anyone but the big leather and punch boy with the mighty physical development.

This Venetian giant gave, rather than took, leather in the transaction in the local ring. He presented Buster Martin with eleven ounces of his commodity flush on the Oklahoma's jaw forty seconds after the second round had started. The knockout punch was a ponderous right swing which seemed to be a cross between the gondola stroke and the Shanghai Gesture.

Martin dropped to the floor and laid there for fifteen seconds.

Seven Of Giants Still Unsigned

Sanky McCullough, New Castle Boy, To Go South With Giants This Year

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The New York Giants today were still short seven players, although club officials claimed none of the holdouts were "determined" and their signed contracts were expected this week. Freddy Lindstrom, Bill Terry, Travis Jackson, Larry Benton, Ed Roush, Jack Scott and Bob O'Farrell are the missing players.

Freddy Leach, outfielder obtained in the trade last year sending Frank O'Doul to the Phillies, has signed a Gian contract and Sanky McCullough, obtained three years ago, has been made eligible by Commissioner Landis, it was announced. McCullough, out of baseball two years and reinstated on application, formerly played second base on a semi-pro team at New Castle, Pa.

Local Infielder Has Been Reinstated To Giants' Active List

Frank (Sanky) McCullough, local infielder, has been reinstated to the active list and will go south with the New York Giants, it was announced today in New York. He is reputed to be one of the best infielders produced in New Castle for several years.

Boosters Lose To Butler Five

Butler Paulists Take 33 To 27 Victory Over Boosters At Pittsburgh

The big Duquesne University floor last night caused the New Castle Boosters to go down to defeat before the Butler Paulists. The final score was 33 to 27. It was the third and deciding game of the three-game series between the two teams. Butler won two and lost one.

The score at half time was tied at 14-14. The Paulists were more used to the big floor.

Scoring honors went to Kulich, Alexander, Birdie, Krankota, Kerr, and D. Krankota.

It was a good game all the way with the locals fighting hard for that elusive victory, but lacking the strength to withstand the final few minutes of an extremely fast pace.

British Expert Lauds Carnera

Expects Primo To Have No Difficulty Winning Top Honors

WALSH, HOWEVER,
DOESN'T AGREE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Jack Sharkey may win the heavyweight championship of the world in June but he will hold the title no longer than the moment that he and the "beef" bimbo, Primo Carnera, enter the same ring on the same evening and in the same prize fight. This, it seems, goes, too, for Max Schmeling; likewise for Phil Scott. There are excellent chances, so to speak, but they merely are minding the heavyweight championship while Primo is out of town making Barnum look like a yokel.

Treasure Wynnall, the English writer who probably knows more of the four men in question than any authority in America and Europe, arrived in New York today to make this assertion and others equally startling. For one thing, he said he had taken 2 to 1 odds that Scott would beat Sharkey if Phil came up for the sixth round and that all England was figuring the same way. For another he declared that Carnera would keep the heavyweight title until death did them part.

Being Better
"He's unbroken," said the Englishman, "and being that he is only twenty two and improving all the time, I believe he will stay that way. I say this because there never was another man like him and because I am assuming that there never will be another."

His strength, his speed, his punch, his size combine to make him a man apart from all others. It's just no use. He is going to win the heavyweight title and all the Sharkeys, Schmelings and Scotts in the world can't alter the fact. The signal has been given. The big fight in America during the last twelve years and knows Sharkey as well as anybody. He knows Scott so well that he admits Phil swooned his way out of another tough spot the night an English referee called a foul on Ten Sandwina. He saw Sharkey rise from obscurity to eminence and he was gazing fixedly from a neutral corner when Carnera and Stripling had their two brawns in London and Paris.

Was Stripling's knockdown of the "beef" gorilla real punch? It was so real, it seemed, that the same punch would have knocked Sharkey and Scott stiffer than a tin roof.

Stripling Downed Primo
"It was a terrific punch that caught Carnera on the point of the jaw and he fell so hard that I thought for a moment that he was like going with him," said Wynnall. "He got up after a short count, whereas you could have counted the calendar around over any other man in the world. The punch didn't even daze him. All it did was to make him mad and he was something fearsome to look upon as he came back like a wild man."

"No, no. There's not a bit of use arguing about the thing. The man has everything and we might as well accept this fact now, as later. For he's going to be the big man in prize fighting for a long time."

To which I feel prompted to add that, personally, I believe he will be around until some earnest person hits him robustly in the portico.

STARS
BY AL WINFIELD

Read this, Charley (Hoss) Radbourne, one of the greatest submarine ball pitchers that ever lived, won all three games on consecutive days for Providence against the New York Metropolitans in 1894!

Three wins in three days! And in a world series!
The Providence Grays had won the National league flag rather handily and came to New York in a confident mood to face the Mets, who had taken the honors of the American association. The series was to be best three out of five.

The first game was Oct. 23. Hoss held the Mets to two hits and won a 6-0 shutout.
The next day he won again, 3-1, and allowed but three hits. The game was called in the seventh because of darkness, but Radbourne had the Mets eating out of his hand and would have won anyway.

The following day Hoss "weakened" and allowed the Mets to score two runs off six hits, while his mates batted out an 11-2 victory to clinch the series.

In the three games Radbourne faced 77 batters of which, only nine hit safely. Seventeen struck out. Only one man hit for extra bases—a double. Hoss gave no base on balls throughout the series. One wild pitch was scored against him.
That was a great ball club—those Grays of 1894. They rode roughshod to their pennant by losing but 27 of 110 games played, for a percentage of .745. Yet, they were great players, but none so magnificent as Hoss Radbourne, whose record must surely stand forever—the one man to pitch and win all games of a world series on consecutive days.

East Liverpool
To Hold Tourney

Junior basketball teams of eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and West Virginia will participate in a tourney at East Liverpool on March 14 and 15, according to H. J. Gallimore, at East Liverpool. A total of 57 trophies, medals and cups will be awarded. Players between 13 and 17 and weighing not more than 127 pounds will be eligible to make up the teams.

Dried fruits are some of the best confections for children because they contain valuable minerals and sugar in a not too concentrated form.

Hack Wilson Will Not Pay $20,000 To Rabid Chicago Fan

Takes Jury But Twenty Minutes To Decide That Wilson Is Not Guilty

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Hack Wilson, stocky centerfielder for the Chicago Cubs, went his way today relieved of the worries attached to a $20,000 damage suit.
It took a jury of twelve men twenty minutes to agree that a milkman named Edward Young had not been injured to the extent of $20,000 when Wilson allegedly roughed him up last June 21 for certain comments made on Wilson's baseball technique, when the Cubs met the St. Louis Cardinals here.
From the stories told by the plaintiff and defendant yesterday when they took the stand the hundreds of spectators were prone to believe the two principals each had a different light in mind.
Young maintained Wilson gazed over the railing and beat a tattoo of blows all over his countenance. Wilson declared that Young fell on him as he was entering the dugout.

HONEST ABE

THEY called him "Honest Abe." They tell how he walked three miles to return a few pennies of over-change: that's the kind of man he was. There may never be another Lincoln. But we, who celebrate the anniversary of his birth today, may, at least, gratefully follow his precepts and example.

This institution again dedicates itself to a policy of rigid, unvarying Lincolnian honesty to the penny. When you advertise here you are safe.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A girl writes to know how she can overcome the dreadful habit of blushing. Fancy that! Most girls would give a nice fat check for the recipe that could produce blushes. It's been years since men have seen girls get red in the face from anything except anger. Hang on to the habit, Cora.

Another girl asks what to wear for a small church wedding. I don't know whether the church or the wedding is to be small, but it doesn't matter.

I've often thought about wedding gowns and the lack of originality shown by brides in choosing them. The picture papers and photographer's windows are always showing them in white satin and lace, the same bouquets, the same orange blossoms.

I'll tell you what I'd wear, but you won't do it. With your complexion, I'd get a pale pink chiffon gown, fluffy, and ruffled train. A short veil of pink chiffon edged with natural color handmade lace. Then I would like to see you carry a bouquet of violets from which would hang about twenty five tiny ribbons with violets tied in so that it looked like a shower of the blooms. Such a bouquet has to be made up just before it is used as the flowers fade quickly. A bouquet of white gardenias edged with pink roses would be quite as pretty.

Another letter from a lady who wants to get a girl servant for nothing. I wish her a lot of bad luck.

Why should a girl work for nothing just because she needs a home? There's something terribly wrong with the heart of a woman with money who hunts around to get a girl who needs a home so she can offer her one in the name of charity, and then make her work twice as hard as she would if she got paid. I've seen a lot like her, when I was writing juvenile court news. Wealthy women pretending to help dependent girls by offering a home when all they wanted was a free nurse girl. They didn't even take them to a movie or give them clothes to pay for services. Just worked them to the bone and then spirit out of them because they were FREE.

There must be a specially designed hell for women who impose on the unfortunate and poverty stricken.

Another woman wants a "nice fat pretty baby" to adopt. See the hospitals and orphanages. I haven't any.

A man writes that he wishes the women would follow up my advice. Ooo! He should see what they write me. And send it through the mails!

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—For the first time since traffic court was established a man was haled before a magistrate the other day charged with driving a horse and wagon in a reckless manner. Drivers of motors and taxi chauffeurs appearing in court on various road violations looked at the reckless horseman as if he were some kind of strange animal. If the magistrate had possessed any imagination he'd have suspended sentence, but he didn't. He fined the man $25 with an option of two days in jail; and the survivor of a fast disappearing tribe, with bowed head, was conducted to the housegoose.

A MEDAL TO ASTOR
Of the Utmost Unimportance: Vincent Astor received a medal the other day from the State Horticultural Society for proficiency in apple packing.

CINEMA SALON MODERNISTIC
And now we have The International Cinema Salon, a new organization restricted to 100 of the leading lights of society. The diminutive playhouse atop the Chanin building will be furnished in modernistic style, with seats in checkered upholstery and squatting therein The Anointed of Park Avenue will be able to enjoy their movies without mingling with what Bill Shakespeare used to call "the sweaty mob."

Bo-Broadway congratulates "the sweaty mob."

WRONG JUDGE
A gentleman by the name of Goldstein stepped into court the other day for the purpose of having his name changed. He said he thought "Goldstein" was not euphonious.

"As for euphony," said the court, "it can scarcely be alleged that the name 'Goldstein' is dissonant or discordant. Quite the contrary. I consider it simple and quite easy of pronunciation."

The justice who ruled on the case was named Goldstein.

DELIGHTS FOR SHOPPING
MOB
A 34th street department store has 52 escalators which carry 32,000 persons per hour. In order to convey that number of people all over the shop without escalators the store walls would literally have to be lined with elevators and the customers would have considerably more walking to do to reach center-of-the-floor departments.

A QUAINT CUSTOM
Ruth Finley, author of "Old Patchwork Quilts and the Women Who Made Them," is authority for the statement that once upon a time the comforter performed an important social function. If a guest wasn't entirely welcome or if the visit was too protracted the best quilt was removed from the spare room bed and a quilt of lesser degree substituted.

There ought to be some way of reviving that quaint custom today. It's worth thinking over.

WHAT WOULD YOU SAY?
I am still waiting for somebody to say something really brilliant about the disintegration of the theater. Every day a score of prominent persons air their ignorance on this subject, but nobody says anything even faintly resembling cleverness. Dr. John J. Holmes said the other day that "the theater is in a state of pitiable collapse."

If he'd said it was cock-eyed or had a varicose vein or something like that, it wouldn't have been so bad, but "in a state of pitiable collapse!"

This being a family newspaper, I shall have to confine myself merely to remarking "Fudge!"—but with a great deal of asperity.

HUMOR FIRST
Minna Gombell, who plays the stellar role in "Nancy's Private Affairs," an aeneid little play dealing with a wife who recaptures a wandering husband by the charm school method—is authority for the statement that "a sense of humor comes first in importance in marriage."

The same thing holds true of a jail sentence or an operation for appendicitis.

Girl Has Sobbed Sixty-Four Hours
Massachusetts Doctors Fearful
Lest Life Of Girl Be Imperilled By Sobbing.

(International News Service)
ATTLEBORO, Mass., Feb. 12.—Sixty-four hours of sobbing, with brief spells of natural crying, and Miss Violet Michael, eighteen, was given physicians and relatives serious concern today.

The girl, who had always been healthy and normal, first showed emotion at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening when her mother left for a trip to New Bedford, Mass. The girl's mother returned from New Bedford yesterday but Miss Michael could not be by her own will stop sobbing.

By the use of ether administered by her physician, Miss Michael was able to get three and a half hours sleep after she had sobbed eighteen continuous hours but resumed sobbing as the ether wore off.

While the life of Miss Michael was not considered in danger as yet, continuation of the sobbing might cause general weakness which might become serious, her physician said. No effort was planned to etherize the patient in a comatose state, it was declared.

Curious persons were not allowed entrance to the house where Miss Michael is living.

Pennsylvania Law States That Canines Must Be Kept Confined At All Times.

With the approach of spring, dogs are becoming pretty much of a nuisance in various parts of the city.

Constable De Graff Robinson of the Second Ward states that he has received a number of complaints from people on the north hill of depredations caused by dogs during the past few days.

According to the state dog laws, all dogs must be kept confined at all times and are not permitted to run at large at any time. Dogs which are permitted to run loose in his district without licenses will be promptly shot, while dogs which have licenses will be impounded and the owners will be notified if the dogs are not claimed within the notice within a period of ten days, the dog may be either sold or shot at the discretion of the officer.

There must be a specially designed hell for women who impose on the unfortunate and poverty stricken.
